D.C. Citizens Chide Again

Redevelopment Foes Say They're Against City Council as Authority

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The Daly City council was again the object of attack Monday in the latest battle being waged by opponents of redevelopment in that city.

It was brought out during the well-attended meeting at City Hall that most persons concerned with the matter were not against redevelopment, but rather the appointment of the council as the Redevelopment Agency.

The big question being asked by citizens was why the council appointed itself as the agency for redevelopment of "old" Daly City, instead of appointing a seven-member cross section of residents concerned directly with the area to be redeveloped.

City manager David Rowe responded by suggesting the council, an elected body, would be more responsive to the needs of the entire community — not just the area under consideration for redevelopment.

Rowe also indicated a board comprised of citizens from the area being redeveloped would either have to abstain from voting on many issues or be in conflict with current laws.

But Legal Aid Attorney Tom Adams of San Francisco argued the law allowed such appointments.

He called upon city attorney Albert Polonsky's interpretation of the law. However Polonsky said "it isn't as open and shut" as Adams said.

Both attorneys agreed any legal opinion by them would be subject to court rulings.

Five persons from the audience, representatives of a new opposition group, calling itself the "Citizens to Save Old Daly City," consumed most of the meeting with arguments on appointment of the agency members.

In an unanimous action the council, at the outset of the meeting, passed ordinance 734, establishing the five member redevelopment Agency.

Before the roll call of members could be completed Mrs. Pearl Hastings, director of the new "citizens" group, tried to interrupt the vote by demanding to speak.

Her attempt to halt the establishment of the agency failed.

The council said a proposal made by Albert Jenkin, a resident of the area near the Bay Area Rapid Transit station off Knowles Avenue, that an official commission be set up under the council would be considered.

Jenkin explained the Redevelopment Commission would have the same powers as any other city commission and would do all the "pick and shovel work," thus freeing the council from routine chores involving the agency.

The council's action in setting up the agency kicks off a study that may take from four to eight months to complete. Many steps have to be followed before any section of the city actually begins redevelopment, Rowe said.

In bringing the council up to date on the issue Rowe noted the initial procedure would be "to study the extent of deterioration in the center city area."

Throughout the meeting, city officials refrained from calling the redevelopment target area "old Daly City." The official term is now "center city area."

One of the night's most vociferous opponents of the agency, was Phillip Knippel, of 339 San

Mission Merchants Are Told Redevelopment Should Not Have Come as a Surprise

Daly City Mayor Bernard J. Lycett told the Mission Merchants Association on Friday the proposed redevelopment project in the eastern sectors of the city "should not come as a surprise to anyone."

The mayor, who explained he had "come to listen," was instead called on to speak about the project when the topic arose.

Lycett noted that if there was a "depressed area" in Daly City. It is around the Bay Area Rapid Transit station now under construction on Knowles Avenue.

For more than six years the Planning Commission and council have continued to turn down requests for rezoning in the area.

"We've done this to stop speculators from grabbing up the land," he said.

The rezoning stopped at the same time the General Plan for the city was made public, following a year-long study by a citizen's group composed of some 120 persons from throughout the city.

Lycett allowed there would be "tough times ahead" for the redevelopment agency which proposes to study the area from the Junipero Serra Freeway east to San Bruno Mountain.

"Whenever you try something of this magnitude, there is always pressure," he said.

He emphasized it was just a study.

The agency for redevelopment was a necessary first step in undertaking such a study, he said.

It did not mean the agency would start bulldozing down homes and throwing persons out of their homes, Lycett explained.

There have been accusations that the city has "nailed down" certain areas in the city for redevelopment.

If true, where were these areas, the mayor was asked?

Lycett replied that no specific areas have been determined.

"That's the reason for establishment of the agency and the subsequent study," he said. "I have personally met with persons associated with large developments and attempted to encourage them in investing in our city, persons such as Dell Yebb. But there has been no definite response on this."

The mayor said he was "groping" for answers to problem of redevelopment at this time and needed people to participate in the studies.

He said the council isn't trying to "rape the city or

2 Special Funds Are Established

The Mission Merchants Association has kicked off two emergency funds with the unanimous approval of its membership.

The funds, titled the "Kenneth Dandridge Scholarship Fund" and the "Billie Sabella Assistance Fund," got off to a good start with the merchants allocating $100 to each.

Kenneth Dandridge was the 16-year-old who led two people to safety in a raging fire that killed Billie Alfred Sabella and his 4-year-old son at 328 Irvington Street two weeks ago.

The Dandridge youth vaulted fences, ran along rooftops and finally battled his way into the three story structure to save the pair.

Letters from citizens throughout the North County have been received by civic groups in the city and various funds were contemplated.

The Mission Merchants Association decided to attempt to centralize the funds.

Representatives of both the Bank of America (Mission Street) and First National Bank of D.C. (Mission Street) pledged their cooperation in establishing the funds.

Further information may be obtained on the funds by contacting Mrs. Elna Greenwood, Daly City Chamber of Commerce, Mission Street, Daly City.

'Eroding Service'

Keep ECR in State System, Mayors Ask

The mayors of San Mateo county, meeting in Belmont last week, unanimously adopted a resolution opposing the removal of El Camino Real from the state highway system.

The San Mateo County Council of Mayors took its action as a result of an appeal from Councilwoman Grace McCarthy of Pacifica for support against a decision by the California Highway Patrol to cease patrols of Cabrillo Highway through Pacifica where it has not been developed into a freeway.

The decision of the CHP actually affects only Pacifica, Half Moon Bay, Braodmoor and Colma, Mrs. McCarthy reported. But, she complained, this is an example of how the "state keeps eroding the service they give us."

Mayor Albert J. Adrevano of Half Moon Bay suggested that the four cities concerned get together and come to the mayors' council for support.

Mayor John Condon of San Mateo said San Mateo faces the same problem with the removal of El Camino Real from the state highway system. He suggested the mayors go on record as opposing the removal of the highway as far as maintainance is concerned.

Mayor William A. Borba moved that the mayors not only oppose the removal of El Camino Real from Daly City south,

Child Saved By Firemen And Police

A three-month-old boy today may owe his life to the quick action of South San Francisco's police and firemen.

Little Robert Matthew Johnson, son of Mrs. Diane Marie Johnson, 21, of 858B Antoinette Lane, coughed and his breathing apparently stopped about 5 p.m. Saturday.

According to police they received an emergency call. The firemen, monitoring the police radio, also responded. When the firemen reached the residence, Police Officer Stan Bennett was coming out of the door with the baby in his arms.

Police said Bennett passed the lad to Fire Capt. Murl McKenzie, who proceeded to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Not wanting to loose a minute waiting for an ambulance, Officer Bennett transported the baby to Kaiser Hospital where normal breathing was restored.

Gunmen Rob Restaurant as Policemen Dine Nearby

Two daring gunmen on Monday held up a Daly City restaurant, and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash, while policemen sat eating their breakfast only a few feet away.

The manager of the Denny's restaurant at the Serramonte Shopping Center, was unaware the off-duty policemen were present, when the robbery occurred at about 8:30 a.m.

The gunmen fled the scene after stealing the manager's car, police said. They had entered the cafe through a rear door.

Officers recalled that the restaurant had been the location of a similar robbery, about a year ago, in which shots were fired between the holdupman and an off-duty policeman who happened to be on the scene.

The I-380 Battle's New Developments; Pacifica Wants It

Developments in the fight over extension of Freeway Route 380 to the Coast came rapidly this week.

—The Division of Highways announced an eight-prong study in greater depth of aspects of the freeway extension, raised in last week's public meeting on the environmental Impact statement.

—San Bruno City Council and a San Bruno Park School Board trustee on Monday called for a second environmental meeting, to permit local reactions to the final Environmental Impact Statement, before its transmission to Washington.

—Local anti-freeway forces called for a campaign directed at the State Legislature, to order a halt to the freeway.

—Announcement of further meetings of councilmen, school trustees, conservationists and highway engineers, to try to resolve differences.

—Revelation of critical reactions to the preliminary environmental statement from U.S. Governmental agencies.

Dist. IV Engr. Alan S. Hart wrote identical letters to the City Council and School Board announcing new studies in greater depth of:

"1. The 'do nothing' alternative.

"2. The 'improved local roadways' alternative.

"3. The 'four lanes only' freeway alternative.

"4. The practicability of a tunnel rather than a cut at the summit of Sweeney Ridge.

"5. Measures to mitigate the noise impact in the schools and homes.

"6. A comprehensive analysis of . . . exhaust emissions . . . and the impact on the health of students and residents.

"7. A survey of the animal life and vegetation which might be affected and a study of the measures necessary to protect them.

"8. A revaluation of population and development projections within the San Bruno-Pacifica area with the idea that the facility should be limited to that capacity that would accommodate people who already live in the area."

The Council did not respond to a proposal from Maureen Glew, 2700 Ridgeway Avenue, who asked the Council point blank to take a stand, by a resolution, against extension of 380 to avoid "ravishing our most precious resource—our children." Neither did anyone bring up, Monday night, any further mention of a previous proposal to obtain a public hearing by the State Highway Commission, which has the power to cancel freeway routes.

School Trustee Leonard Sarkon said he was elated to get the letter from the Division of Highways, feeling such additional study would make more sense, ecologically. He announced that he plans to make a motion for the school board to ask for a meeting on the final Environmental Impact statement.

Councilman George Corey made the successful motion to ask for such a meeting.

Pacifica's 'Outstanding Employe' Award Presented at 14th Anniversary Dinner

By ROBERT PETERSON

Approximately 250 persons watched as City Manager Jim Swayne congratulated Roberts, and handed him a city plaque. Roberts also will receive a $5

Kevin Roberts, a member of Pacifica's engineering department, was named Outstanding City Employe of that city at last night's 14th anniversary dinner. savings bond and the engineering department will display a perpetual plaque for the next year.

Swane, who noted that Roberts is joining a select group of only a half-dozen others, was cited for his "trustworthy attitude," and the fact that as head of the city's traffic engineering program he has "devised plans that have reduced accidents."

The Outstanding Employe Award is made through a nomination process of the city's departments. Those recognized in the past were Paul Shipp of public works, Richard Burton, head of parks, beach and recreation; James Evans, fire department; Virginia Silva of the parks, beach and recreation department; Melvin Nelson, fire chief and Kathleen Linden of the Police department.

A dinner of chicken, with peas, salad, roll and butter, cake and ice cream was served cafeteria style in the Oceana High School Cafeteria.

Mayor Grace McCarthy made special note of the fact that "the dinner was cooked by volunteers, as a birthday gift to the city."

Assisting in the serving and table clearing were children of city employes. The dinner started at 6:30 p.m. and ran on past the scheduled 8 p.m. starting time for the city's relular council meeting, which was still going strong past midnight.

Also in attendance at the diner was County Supervisor Mrs. Jean Fassler, the city's first mayor. She made a few brief comments to the effect the city started with (at the time of incorporation in 1957) "good will and hard work."

'Warning' From Teacher Leader After Decision

Teacher leaders in Daly City Friday charged a ruling by a Redwood City judge invalidating their master agreement would push the troubled school district into "an abyss of educational anarchy and confusion."

"Since all legal controls over the accountability of the school board have been waived, it can now arbitrarily change working conditions without consulting the teachers," warned Anita Jackson, president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association (JCTA).

"Teachers may be hired under one set of rules, then find it has been unilaterally altered in mid-year. Salaries may be reduced. The school day extended. More children packed into already overcrowded classrooms. We're helpless to stop any abuses against individual teachers," she claimed.

The disputed Jefferson Elementary School District agreement had been one of the key issues in the recent month-long strike.

Caterer Robbed

Two men robbed Chan's Catering Service at 2447 Geneva Avenue, Daly City, shortly after 7:30 p.m. on Monday and fled with an undetermined amount of money.

Demo Central Body Urges Teacher Bargaining Right

The San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee wants legislation providing public school teachers with collective bargaining rights, according to its chairman, Al Kochman.

"The Jefferson Elementary strike in Daly City demonstrated clearly that the Winton Act is unworkable, Kochman said. "It failes to provide public school teachers with effective bargaining procedures, contractural agreements or means of enforcing district policies.

Kochman said the central committee's resolution points out that collective bargaining is widely recognized today as the best means of achieving harmonious relations between employers and employees in a democratic society, and that it is totally unrealistic to expect teachers, almost alone among major groups of employees, to work without a contract stating the conditions of employment and professional service. The resolution calls for legislation to include:

— Exclusive representation by one organization, secret ballot elections to determine that organization, and a legal contract between it and the district;

— A representational election when 30 per cent of the employees petition for one, but not more often than once in a calendar year;

— Good faith negotiations, binding arbitration of grievances, and the right to strike.

"Our Committee also plans to ask the State Democratic Central Committee to include this concept in their state platform," Kochman said.

D.C. Rejects Horse Stable

Crocker and Company's request to build an equestrian center near the Cow Palace in Daly City was rejected by the city council last week.

The council contended the multi-million dollar horse stable did not comply with the city's general plan.

It was also pointed out that residents of the surrounding community had expressed their opposition to the center.

Don Holh, Crocker's chief engineer, earlier explained to the city's Planning Commission that the company planned to place some 40 acres into a Planned Development (PD) district which would provide for stables and related uses.

D.C. Council Is Told Minorities Need Jobs Now

There are a lot of upset young people that need employment in Daly City, Marion Goodman, executive director of the Information and Referral Center told the city council Monday.

And these young people may not "stand still much longer," according to Goodwin.

As long as he gets paid by the Office of Economic Opportunity, Goodwin vowed to do everything in his power to help "minorities — black people" get jobs and to assist low income people get decent housing.

Two black youths—George Durand of 719 Bellevue, and Bobby Sims—accused the city of unfair hiring practices in connection with the federally funded emergency Employment Act.

The act is designed to put unemployed persons into jobs immediately, rather than at a later date when the city can budget the positions.

Daly City has 21 slots allocated under the program. Two have been filled, City Manager David Rowe said.

Durand charged people "are going hungry in our area and they need work." He said the council was "sitting on money to be used for hiring."

Pacifica Wondering Where To Put Corporation Yard

Pacifica's corporation yard has to be moved to make way for construction of the new wastewater treatment plant and council members can't decide where to put it.

A recommendation by City Manager Jim Swayne to lease space from Cordero Chevrolet for a temporary facility failed when it was learned rental had to be for 18 months at $9,000.

The plans and specifications for the plant construction included a $9,000 allowance for relocating existing corporation yard facilities.

Councilmen Stan Farber and Nick Gust, however, felt that $9,000 was too much to pay, and that an 18-month lease would tie the city down for too long a period. They voted against the recommendation.

Voting for it were Mayor Grace McCarthy and Councilhan Harland Minshew. Councilman Dan Modena was absent due to illness. "Nobody wants to spend $9,000 on something not permanent. But you've got to be a little realistic," said Minshew, noting that there will be no place for city equipment to operate from.

Farber and Gust, however, said they wanted Swayne to again contact Cordero and try for a shorter term lease. Swayne had said he doubted this could be accomplished "because he (Cordero) knows we are in a bind."

Another possibility the city has however is to build a temporary facility on existing city-owned property in Rockaway Beach. Swayne said a wood frame structure would cost about $9,000 and one made of metal was estimated at $15,000.

Swayne said the ideal situation would be for the city to consider building, releasing the contractor of the treatment plant from the obligation to provide temporary rental facilities. The city apparently has no money for this project either.

Store Mgr. Shot in Front Of His Home

The manager of the White Front Store in South San Francisco was shot in the stomach last week by one of two men who had summoned him to the street in front of his home. The two men fled.

San Mateo Police said that they received a report of the shooting at 6:43 p.m. Responding to 839 Highland, San Mateo, they found that Harry Stemmler had been shot.

He was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital, where surgery was performed to remove a .32 calibre bullet from his lower abdomen.

The victim told police that he was lured from his residence by a white male adult who came to his house and told the story that the man had backed into Stemmler's car.

When the victim followed the man to the street, a second man joined them. Meanwhile, the victim noted that there was no damage and that his car had not been hit.

At this point, he told police, the first man produced a small automatic pistol and said "OK fella, reach!"

Stemmler immediately resisted, he told police and was shot in the stomach. Both men, described as white and about 25, then fled on foot, he said.

Stemmler is in the intensive care unit at Mills and is reported in satisfactory condition. Investigation is continuing.

Warmth of Town Hall Talk Made People Forget Cold

It was cold last Saturday, but the discussion at the Daly City Town Hall Meeting on Police-Community Relations provided some warmth for the citizens who turned out at Jefferson High School.

Noticeably lacking from the meeting was a lot of the polemical rhetoric which has characterized such meetings in the past.

The police and people from the community, many of them young, spent several hours trying to get to know one another and to understand the problems they share.

The meeting was jointly sponsored by the Community Relations Planning Council and the Daly City Police Department. One of the principal reasons for the meeting was to begin the expansion of the Koffee Klatch community meeting programs conducted over the past two years by the two groups.

Keynote speaker for Saturday's event was Ed Becks, Director of the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commission. The thrust of his remarks was directed to the necessity of bridging the various gulfs that exist in our society and creating "non-threatening" arenas within which people can interact.

A panel of people from the community, the police, and city government responded to Becks' remarks. The meeting then broke into small group sessions in which all the people participated.

Members of the panel were: Carolyn Person, Jim Edwards, Gaston Boker, Armando Aceituno, Captain David Hansen of the police department and Don Fleming, Daly City's Assistant City Manager.

Other paticipants included David Salazar, Al Toles, Lt. Phil LaBruzzo and Councilman Tony Giamona.

Any person interested in hosting a "Koffee Klatch" is urged to contact Lt. LaBruzo (993-4500) or the Information and Referral Center (992-9414).

Plans are now underway to provide group discussion training to people interested in leading the Koffee Klatch discussion.

Night People Needed For Switchboard

Damien Switchboard, a 24-hour, 7-day-a-week phone service is in need of volunteers to man an "all-night shift" on week nights.

There is an urgent need for volunteers to answer the phones at the Switchboard one night a week, Monday through Friday, from 10 p.m. to 9 a.m.

They would handle referals, rap and crisis calls, drug help information and people who, for whatever reason, feel the need to call and talk.

All volunteers are first screened and then trained before given a shift.

If anyone is interested in working a weekday "all night shift" please contact the Daly City Damien Switchboard Shift Director, Tina Logan. The Switchboard phone number is 992-5600 and all messages reach Tina if she's not there when you call.

Meanwhile, on Nov. 6, the Northern California Peace Action Coalition held a March and Rally against the war. Several staff members of the Daly City and San Mateo Switchboards, as well as the staff from the South San Francisco and San Mateo Damien Houses volunteered to serve as monitors at the March and Rally. Because of their training and experience, the volunteers were asked to work as monitors in the medical tent as well as stage monitors.

A monitor's greatest value is their ability to talk to and understand people, enabling them to handle any situation that should arise.

Swim Triumph

Terra Nova's G.A.A. swim team recently defeated Mills, Jefferson, Half Moon Bay and El Camino 84-26.

Santa Claus Going to Serramonte

Santa will be arriving at Serramonte Shopping Center at 10 a.m. Friday.

After Santa's arrival at the Daly City center he will set up residence in his Santa house for the Yule season. A free Christmas tree lollipop will be given boys and girls.

While Santa will be fulfilling his traditional role of giving, this year he also will be receiving. When visiting Santa, this first weekend only, the children are asked to take a used, repairable toy and give it to Santa for the Marine Reserve's "Toys for Tots" program, so that needy girls and boys might have a happy Christmas, too.

The Salvation Army will set up a display of the dolls being dressed by the Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts, Senior Citizens and others.

special discussions councilmen plan to have with the highway engineers. Councilman Tony Governale assured him that both convervationists and advocates such as Pacifica representatives, have already been invited.

Meanwhile, four different groups fighting Route 380 issued a joint statement urging that the two local legislators, Assemblyman Leo Ryan and State Sen. Arlen Gregorio, be urged to submit legislation to remove 380, between 280 and 1, from the state freeway system.

Ryan has even included a questionaire in his latest news letter, asking his consitiuents their opinion of 380. The four groups urged that this particular question be answered promptly.

The appeal was signed by Ellie Larsen, for the Sierra Club and 380 Study team, Terri Rasmussen for the Freeway Fighting Fund, Sylvia Gregory for Committee to Oppose 380 and Mark Forcum for the 380-8 group, a student group.

Pacifica's council members favor a freeway from their city to connect with the Interstate 380 extension being built in San Bruno—and that is final.

This, in effect, is what yet another group opposing the proposed extension through Crestmoor Canyon and over Sweeney Ridge was told Monday night.

Clark L. Natwick read from a prepared letter, suggesting that the city reconsider its position and ask the State Highway Commission to conduct a public hearing on the environmental impact of 380

The letter was signed by Natiwick, Ferdinand Simons and Janice Fulform, for "The Committee to Oppose Freeway 380."

According to the letter, construction of 380 will intensify pressure for Highway 1 Freeway along the coast, already being feared by many Pacificans.

"To consider 380 as an entity separate from Highway 1 Freeway is unrealistic," said Natwick, "and yet this is what the Division of Highways asks us to do."

Natwick said a public hearing would give an opportunity to consider fully everything that freeway planners are offering Pacifica. "Pacificans have indicated opposition to 380 and there seems to be even greater opposition to the coastal freeway," said Natiwick.

He said the only ones to benefit from freeway construction would be auto, oil, real estate, construction and other land interests.

Mayor Grace McCarthy said she was reminded only the other night of the need for the freeway. She said she was coming back to Pacifica on Sharp Park Road when traffic was being held because of an accident.

"It was a clear evening," she said. "The grades and the curbs caused it. The circulation pattern (the freeway would offer) is of great concern to us." She also referred to a letter sent by absent Councilman Dan Modena favoring the freeway, too.

Councilman Stan Farber said, "I haven't heard anything new (in opposition) in 18 months. Route 1 and 380 are two different things," he said.

According to Councilman Harland Minshew, Pacificans have a right to an alternate access out of town, other than to the north and south. "We would be derelict in our duty (as councilmen) if we didn't consider these rights," said Minshew.

Councilman Nick Gust said, "The way you (people in opposition to the freeway) approach this (freeway), you make us feel as though we just thought of it yesterday."

"This could be a great thing, something everyone in the city would benefit from. Ask any youth to leave his car home, or not buy a new car this year," suggested Gust.

The councilman went on to explain that studies have been made on a freeway from Bayshore to Pacifica for as far back as ten years. He said the people who bought homes, now near where the freeway is proposed to go, knew years ago that a freeway was proposed to go through that area.

Gust suggested that freeway foes ought to study the old reports to become more informed about the entire picture.

"Don't just come up here (in front of the council) not knowing the total facts and making comments that you don't want a freeway. You'll use it and appreciate it," said Gust.

but the old Basyhore highway as well.

The resolution will be sent to the State Division of Highways, the Highway Commission and the state public utilities commission.

Mayor Joseph Judge of San Carlos and Mayor Robert Bury of Redwood City clashed on what sort of jurisdiction a recently formed county Airport Land Commission should have over the San Carlos airport.

Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City, a member of the commission, reported it had been suggested last week that the commission have control of a two-mile radius around the San Carlos and Half Moon Bay airports.

Bury said Redwood City, while recogizing the need for control, is concerned about the radius. He suggested that the real problem is regulation of landing and takeoff patterns in line with runways.

He indicated Redwood City is especially concerned about plans of the San Carlos airport to expand, the Redwood Shores development is involved.

Judge maintained that the airport was there long before Redwood Shores, and that the airport expansion is now becoming a porblem to Redwood City.

He argued development of the airport is "a must" for the county.

"Mr. Judge seems to feel our presentation is arbitary and improper," Bury retorted. "There is no talk about stopping."

Mayor Mat Landes of Woodside asked for support in his community's campaign to enforce the Pacific Gas and Electric company to underground power lines when their capacity is increased.

The council heard Borba say that the need for detnetion facilities in the north county will be brought up at the next mayor's meeting.

They listened to a speech from Yilliam Zappetini Jr., a flower grower and a county fair director, outline plans for a new county convention bureau.

Received notice that Councilman Patrick Ahern of South San Francisco had been elected an alternate delegate to the Local Agencies Formation committee at a closed meeting before their meeting.

knock people out of their homes."

"We're sincerely trying to do what's best for Daly City and we need all the help we can get," Lycett said.

Mission Merchants President Vince Merlo said there were rumors flying around the city that houses would be taken away from some people within the next three months.

Merlo said one person, whom he refused to name, other than to say he was a resident of the area near the BART station, "is going house to house telling residents they would be tossed out of their homes within 90 days."

Mayor Lycett vehemently denied such actions would be taken or are even being contemplated.

"It will take us six to 12 months to complete the study alone," he said.

Diego Avenue, also a director of the citizens' group formed to fight the measure.

He called the matter "an honorable matter" and asked that a letter received too late to place on the night's agenda be read.

In the three page letter it was asked, among other things, why the city had waited so long to undertake the redevelopment.

Knippel pointed out the general plan had been completed some five years ago and only in recent weeks has the matter been pushed.

Rowe attempted to explain that only now did the city have the ability to finance such a project recommended under the General Plan of 1968.

However, Knippel dramatized the fact that the "center city area" was a "viable community" and that a "community is people."

He asked why the city wants to tear down homes and drive people into the streets.

Turning to the audience, Knippel noted "This is what we did to the (American) Indians."

One speaker, William B. Swanson, of San Francisco, said he would rather deal directly with developers and "keep the council from meddling in the redevelopment."

Cheap or bargain... what's the difference?

A whole lot, when you're discussing cars or trucks.

For instance, we make less profit on each new car or truck we sell. So you pay less. Bob Toneff, my partner, and I are pretty conservative fellows, and we'd never make a statement like that if we couldn't back it up. We can. Here's how: we belong to a Dodge Dealers' Association. It includes dealers from San Francisco to San Jose, the Peninsula to Concord. The Association periodically gets facts and figures from members, then compiles them. Tanforan Dodge has the lowest profit-per-car rating in the Association. That is why we can truthfully say you can buy your new Dodge here for less. Now, that's a bargain; we call it TRUE VALUE! And TRUE VALUE doesn't apply just to the Colts, or the top-line Monacos. It's an across-the-board policy here.

Cheap, on the other hand, may or may not be a bargain. We'll happily sell you a Colt without an accessory on it. That's about as cheap as you can buy reliable, economical new transportation. Whether it's a bargain is your decision. If you're accustomed (or want to be) to the snap of a big V-8, AM/FM radio and a lot of other goodies, it probably isn't for you.

Come in to talk about your car needs. We'll start by giving you the best bargain in the country . . . a cup of coffee free.

Sincerely,
Joe Francis

"WAIT TILL SANTA hears about this!" says Cynthia, Santa's lovely helper, as she gets a sneak preview of Walgreen's jam-packed Christmas Girl Guide appearing in the Post on December 1. The full-color, 24-page section is bursting with over 200 fabulous Christmas items — all available at local Walgreen Drug Stores. "All this merchandise just sleighs me!" Cynthia says.

5 Promotions For Police In South SF

Five promotions, a direct result of budget approval of two new staff positions, have been announced by South San Francisco Police Chief Sal Rosano.

Two men moved to captain status, one was made a lieutenant and two were promoted to sergeant.

James Datzman, formerly a lieutenant in charge of investigation, is now a captain. He will remain as the Investigation Division commander.

Capt. Datzman, 32, has been with the department for 11½ years. He served as patrolman and patrol sergeant before being moved into the investigation division.

The other new captain is former Sergeant James Swinfard. He will become the Service Division commander. For the past three years he has served as training officer.

Capt. Swinfard, 38, is a 15-year veteran of the department. He served eight years as a patrolman and four years as a patrol sergeant before becoming training officer.

Promoted to lieutenant was former Sergeant Raymond McKeon. Lt. McKeon has been assigned to the patrol section.

Moving into the sergeant slots were former patrolmen Laurence Crafford and Norman Solari.

The promotions were made from eligibility lists established by competitive written and oral examinations.

According to the chief, the three captains (including present Captain and Assistant Chief August Terragno) will be responsible strictly for their respective divisions' administrative workings. They will be on call, however.

The department's three lieutenants (including present lieutenants Dave Casey and Ted Silvas) will share night commander duties.

Pacifica Lifts Building Ban

By BOB PETERSON

The building moratorium imposed several weeks ago in Pacifca's western Sharp Park adadition has been lifted.

The emergency ordinance setting aside the moratorium followed instructions to the city staff to study the area and have a specific plan on what to do to upgrade it within a year.

A citizen's committee will be appointed to aid and give direction to the staff concerning the future plan.

In addition, the staff was instructed to check into whether small loans are available for individual homeowners to improve his own property himself.

It became immediately obvious that the approximately 75 persons in the audience were opposed to the moratorium.

When Mayor Grace McCarthy opened the public hearing and asked those in the audience favoring the moratorium to speak, no one moved.

Initially, the tenor of the audience was one of hostlity and rudeness, as members of the audience shouted out their dislike for the moratorium.

As the meeting progressed, some order came out of the chaos. A few speakers even admitted they were not necessarily against improving the area, but didn't like the idea of stopping everything "while it was being studied."

About one-third of the audience spoke. The gist of most was that moratorium leads to condemnation. This in turn means people will lose their homes, the rich will get richer and the poor, poorer.

Fred Howard, a member of the city's Parks, Beach and Recreation Commission, and not a resident or property owner in the moratorium area, gave one viewpoint.

"I favor developing, but in a proper way," he said. "I see no future for Pacifica if we just make this a bedroom community. It's time to look at all areas that can be fixed up."

The darker side was pictured by another person associated with the city's parks, Beaches and Recreation Department.

Also, Alice Naumoff, presently a playground director, told what would happen if the proposal "followed the typical pattern."

This pattern, according to her, is that the rich move out and the poor go to worse slums. In the process of having their property bought up, the individual homeowner will receive about half the market value.

"Urban renewal (the term used last night was redevelopment) implies a slum," she said. "It recalls the Harlem ghetto or Chicago's southside. I find the term insulting."

Mayor McCarthy said, "This jumping to conclusions of wiping out homes is incorrect." She attempted to qualify each speaker's statement to determine whether they would agree to some type of change.

City Manager Jim Swayne said the present situation of the area is one that has "sporadiac and dangerous" developments that "appears to be leading to instant slum."

"We think there is a need to stop and take a close look at what's happening there," he said. "The city's existing policy is unclear as to what ought to be done. The reason for tonight's meeting was to get citizen input."

After the meeting a number of residents lined up to place their names on a list of persons interested in being on the committee to draw up a future land use plan.

Plans Hearings Set in SSF

Three public hearings on planning matters are scheduled for the South San Francisco council's next session December 6.

Two items are appeals on planning commission denials. The third has to do with a street pattern in the Cabot-Utah Industrial area.

Commissioners unanimously adopted City Planner Dan Pass's proposal that the circulation element and plan diagram of the general plan be amended by the adoption of the "General Circulatory Plan of Point San Bruno and Environs."

The proposed amendment will complete the projected street pattern of the Point San Bruno area, providing the industrial and recreational land uses "a high level of traffic and land service, according to Pass.

Property owners and developers in the Point San Bruno area have endorsed the proposed amendment, as have the city's department heads. The council must give approval.

One appeal is being made by Phyllis Feudale of a denial of her request to rezone an 8,410 square foot lot from single family residential to duplex residential.

Commissioners denied the request, involving property at 520 Spruce Avenue on the grounds approval would be establishing a spot zoning.

On April 28, 1959, planning commissioners conditionally approved the resubdivision of the lot into two parcels, permitting construction of two single-family dwellings.

All adjacent lots are classified as single-family residential.

The third hearing, an appeal of a denial of a use permit, concerns a request of Michael Callan to develop commercially at the southwest corner of Callan Boulevard and King Drive.

Commissioners recommended denial of the request to build a service station and quick-stop market on the grounds these outlets are not currently required by the residents of the area.

The lands, an integral part of the Westborough-West Park planned community district, are slated for "neighborhood commercial" under the "working-living areas element" of the general plan. They are classified commercial under the city's zoning plan.

West Park currently is served by one neighborhood shopping center, and one community business district.

Two supermarkets and four service stations serve the 3,600 residents of "Old Westborough" (Dublin) and the maximum 1,800 residents of West Park.

These West Park residents also are served by two service stations on the north side of King Drive in Serramonte, Daly City, two stations at Sharp Park Road and Skyline Boulevard, San Bruno, and a 7-11 store on the west side of Skyline Boulevard, Pacifica.

Cases Are Shifted To a Higher Court

Two South San Francisco Municipal Court cases have been referred to Superior Court, Redwood City.

One involves a felony hit-and run, a second concerns a charge of attempted murder and the third is a case on embezzlement.

Referred to Redwood City late last week was the case of Carlton Cordeiro, 27, of 177 Diamond St., San Bruno, charged with felony hit-and-run.

Cordeiro was arrested by South San Francisco police after his vehicle allegedly ran another off the road, causing injury to the occupant of that car. Cordeiro left the scene, but later turned himself in to the police.

The two other cases are scheduled to be heard on Monday.

William August Wolf, 28, of San Francisco, a security guard at a South San Francisco firm, is charged with the attempted murder of an employe of that firm.

Dental Plan Asked By S.S.F. Employes

Another request was made last week by Frank Gillis, representing South San Francisco city employes, for a dental plan, to be effective the first of the year.

Mayor William Borba, who in the past has stood firm in denying anything beyond the across-the-board 5 per cent originally authorized, told Gillis, "We'll think it over."

Councilman Patrick Ahern confessed that he was sorry he had voted against the dental plan. "We told them two years ago they could count on it," he said. "It's the only time I've ever been sorry about a vote, when I vote against the plan."

The same line of thought was expressed by Councilman Frank Bertucelli. "When we say we're going to do something we should," he said.

Both councilmen took exception to the fact, however, that they should follow this line of reasoning and authorize the hiring of an architect to do the second phase of Westborough's Park.

Councilman Frank Mammini pointed to minutes of a previous meeting which allowed Councilman Warren Steinkamp's motion to authorize the hiring be automatically approved at Monday night's meeting.

Ahern said, "That may be the way the motion is written, but it isn't the way it was said." Mammini then suggested "that all minutes be reviewed" to make sure they were correct.

The matter was settled by City Manager Gale Dreisbach who said the city would be jeopardizing federal funding by hiring an architect before the Department of Housing and Urban Development had given its approval to sharing cost of the project.

As to the dental plan, Dreisbach told the councilmen that money — once estimated at 21,942 — had not been budgeted.

Gillis, who at past council sessions had made loud attempts to get the plan for the employes he represents, Monday night spoke softly. Some in the room asked if the microphone was working.

"I'm asking that the council come back in two weeks with a dental plan to be effective the first of the year — if you feel you can grant it," said Gillis.

Guest Pastor for Our Redeemer's

The Rev. Elmer Laursen, chaplain at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, will be the guest pastor at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church November 28.

He also serves on the Staff of Lutheran Social Services of Northern California.

Worship at Our Redeemer's is at 8:30 and 11 a.m. each Sunday. Nursery care is provided at the second service. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m. Holy Communion will be celebrated each Sunday during the Advent Season, November 28,-December 24.

Our Redeemer's Church is located at the corner of El Camino Real and Southwood Drive in South San Francisco.

Bill G. Williams is the pastor of the congregation.

The youth from Our Redeemer's will be attending a district convention of the Luther League of the South Pacific District of the American Lutheran Church.

Bay Jehovah Witness

Hopes He Never Dies

A Bay-Area minister told a congregation of 2,499 persons Sunday he seriously hoped he would never die.

Lyle E. Reusch, District Supervisor of 170 congregations, including those in San Bruno, Daly City and Pacifica congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses, said his hope was based on hard, cold facts as well as the Bible.

He quoted biologists who hoped to exploit the potential immortality in the human seven-year cycle of "complete cell turnover" by "tapping the code of life" they believe resides in the DNA chemical within man's genetic structure.

Reusch said that an infinite lifespan was just as possible now as was the pre-astronaut prospect of putting a man on the moon.

But he denied credit for his lifephopes to science, which he said had not exetnded man's lifespan beyond the Bible-times rule of "three score and ten" years.

He stated that God had tapped disobedient Adam's lifecode, his DNA, which has started out programmed like a computer tape for everlasting life, and had reprogrammed it for a limited lifespan and death.

Now it was God's promise through Jesus to reprogram the believer's biological computer to live forever on earth, Reusch asserted.

He added tht people like the 76 baptized at the Witnesses' assembly on Saturday were transferring from Adam's fatherhood and genetic heritage to that of Jesus.

Community Invited to Attend Temple Rites

Carrying on a tradition of many years, Congregation B'nai Israel of Daly City-Colma has invited the community to participate in a Thanksgiving Day service on November 25 at 10:30 a.m. in the Temple at 1575 Annie Street, Colma.

The congregation will have as guest Rabbi Saul E. White of Congregation Beth Sholom of San Francisco, assisted by Cantor Henry Greenberg.

On Friday, the children of the congregation whose birthdays were in November will be honored. To be called for a special blessing are Lisa Levine and Ralph Rechnitz. The eighth grade class, directed by Leon Benson, will present a playlet after the services which will begin one-half hour earlier than usual, at 8 p.m.

Sisterhood Congregation B'nai Israel will hold a Chanukah Bazaar November 28 from 3-5 p.m. at the temple. Guests will be served latkes, a potato pancake, while they browse or shop for Chanukah candles, menorahs, wrapping paper, etc. Mrs. Leon Levy is chairman.

A Lenten Program At Church in DC

A Lenten program will be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. by the Sunday school of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

Parents and other adults interested are invited. Pictured above are some members of the fifth-sixth grade classes rehearsing a psalm of praise and the music which they have written and composed.

Pupils and adults will go to various classes to work together on Christmas projects. At 5:30 there is to be an advent service led by the pupils. At 6 there is to be a potluck supper.

Superintendent Merton Jones will welcome all adults and children to this program and to register for 9:30 or 11 a.m. Sunday school.

For this Sunday's two morning services, there will be sermonic message presented using "Jesus Christ, Superstar" as the theme.

A planning committee has made an adaptation, using the Passion Week theme with words, scripture, music and projected pictures.

On the committee are Kim Pappas, Jack Redslob, Bob Morse, Virginia Morse and Steve Golden, student assistant minister.

The Rev. Herbert Tweedie is the pastor.

Youth to Attend Conclave

The annual fall leadership retreat for the Northern California Baptist Conference High School Youth at Paso Robles will be attended by Westside Baptist youth Sunday.

"A Kingly Commendation" is the sermon topic for the 10:55 a.m. morning worship hour message by Pastor A. David Donnelly, Sunday, another in the current series of messages on the Seven Letters to the Churches.

"Hath God Said?" is the sermon topic for the 7 p.m. family fellowship Gospel hour service, a family-styled service. Miss Trudy Yallmark, soloist, pianist and organist, will play several numbers.

The second annual Thansgiving Eve service at Westside Baptist Church will be November 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The Sanctuary Choir will sing, and other special music will be provided.

Several of the youth will give testimonies, "I Will Give Thanks." Pastor Donnelly will talk on "Perennial Thanksgiving."

There will be no GMG groups that evening.

Westside Baptist Church is located at 390 Inverness Drive (Fairmont) Pacifica.

Jury Grants $700,000 To Plaintiff

A San Francisco man who suffered permanent brain damage in a construction mishap in Daly City two years ago was awarded $700,000 damages Friday by a Superior Court jury in Redwood City.

The award went to Robert Cattuzzo, 40, and was against a San Francisco contracting company, Bay Area Contractors, Inc.

A jury of eight women and four men, which had heard 14 days of testimony in the courtroom of Judge Lyle R. Edson, reached the verdict after three days of deliberation.

Cattuzzo's attorney, Ronald H. Rouda, asked for $1 million general damages and $3 million punitive damages. The jury decided against any punitive damages.

Cattuzzo suffered a skull fracture and brain injury on October 29, 1969, while working for a sheetmetal subcontractor on an apartment building being constructed by the defendant firm in the Serramonte subdivision in Daly City. Rouda said Cattuzzo was walking up a ramp, carrying a paste bucket and ladder, when he fell from the third floor to the ground floor. It was alleged that the ramp violated state construction safety regulations.

Doctors testified that Cattuzzo suffered some intellectual impairment and is subject to convulsions. As a result, they said, he is unable to work.

Construction Limit Near the Airports

A two-mile limit on uncontrolled construction around airports has been designated by the San Mateo County Land Use Commission.

In its first formal action since being created, the commission Wednesday night approved "Resolution Number One," designating airport-influenced areas for San Carlos and Half Moon Bay airports.

Chairman Bernard Esser said a later action would probably designate a similar area around San Francisco International Airport.

In the resolution, the commission requires that planned developments within a two-mile radius of the smaller airports be reviewed by the Airport Land Use Commission as well as the local Planning Commission.

The resolution was to be forwarded to the county's Regional Planning Commission for coordination with other county policies.

San Bruno's C-C Elects President

Bill Wilson, owner of Melody Toyota, has been elected president of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce in 1972.

Wilson has been active in chamber affairs for several years and is serving a second term on the board of directors. Last year, he began furnishing the chamber with a new car annually.

Elected to serve with Wilson as vice president is Larry Mobley, agent for New York Life and the United Chambers Insurance Trust. Larry also is a former manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Harvey Brenner, assistant vice president and manager of Eureka Federal Savings, has been elected to a second year as treasurer.

Intricate Plan Nets $1,400 for Woman

Police were searching for a red-haired woman who stole six checks from a San Carlos tire firm, opened an account in Millbrae, and then disappeared after cashing $1,400 in forged checks.

The forgery came to light Thursday when Michael J. Carrano of San Jose, owner of the Carrano Tire Company at 990 Terminal Way, went to his bank and was informed his account was overdrawn by $1,000.

Carrano told officers that someone had entered his office recently and ripped out six checks from a checkbook in a desk.

His bank, the San Carlos branch of the Crocker Citizen Bank, checked and found that a woman had cashed a check at the bank's Millbrae branch to open an account. The Millbrae branch checked with the San Carlos branch and found the account was all right.

A short time after opening the account, the woman came back to the Millbrae branch and said she needed $1,000 as she had to fly east to see her sick mother in New York. She had originally received $200 when she opened the account.

Police said there is still $288 left in the account in Millbrae.

The woman was described as about 40 to 50-years-old by bank officials in Millbrae.

Water Piping OK in S.S.F.

South San Francisco councilmen last week authorized installation of a new water piping system at the Shaw Road-San Mateo Avenue Pump Station.

It was learned that installation of the unit is necessary to eliminate a health hazard. It also will be used for lubrication of new pump seals, to provide a washdown system and to provide for irrigation of future station landscaping.

City Engineer Lou Goss said the unit will prevent the picking up and recirculation of settling solids in the main pump header. These solids, he said, have a tendency to plug the screen supply system.

Cost of the work is estimated at $7,585. State and federal grants will pay for 80 per cent of the work, according to Goss. He said partner San Bruno and South San Francisco will each pay approximately $758.

New Owner For Hotel

The Thunderbolt Hotel in Millbrae has changed hands.

J. E. (Ted) Cooke, president of Bay Plaza Management Corp., located at the hotel, said the firm has acquired the Thunderbolt from the previous owners.

He said the property is now being managed and operated as the Airport Plaza Hotel. The big sign next to the freeway will be changed soon.

Envelope Mystery Remains Unsolved

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The "Name in the Envelope" mystery, started several weeks ago by recalled San Bruno city councilman Richard Griffith, remains a mystery.

Griffith isn't saying whose name he placed in a sealed envelope and registered to himself at a San Mateo post office.

The former councilman kicked off the "mystery" when he publically announced he knew the name of the new city manager beforehand and the council's elaborate screening of applicants was only a smokescreen.

The city council, Nov. 16, after screening some 90 applicants over the past three months, announced their selection: Gerald D. Minford of Delano, California.

Was this the name Griffith had placed in the registered envelope, he was asked Thursday?

"I'm not at liberty to say at this time. It might come in handy later on," Griffith said.

There had been rumors during the council's search for a city manager replacement for ousted Christopher (Kit) Menkin that Brisbane city manager Eugene Aiello would be appointed.

Could the name in the envelope be that of Aiello, Griffith was asked?

He refused to answer.

Instead, Griffith handed over a written news release confirming his feeling that the "mystery envelope" had served its purpose by scaring the council out of selecting the "prematurely leaked name."

"It obviously made (the council) shy away from the prematurely leaked name that had been on (Mayor Maurice) Hamilton and (Councilman George Corey's minds from the beginning.

"This illustrates one of the ways responsible citizens may influence decisions at city hall from the outside even when forces hostile to the people are in control of it," Griffith said.

The fact that the council twice postponed announcing their selection and "grudgingly" called in San Francisco administrative officer Tom Mellon to aid in the selection was proof his envelope worked, Griffith said.

Griffith was also not satisfied that there had been "any substantially different procedures" used in the selection of Minford than the council had employed when they hired Menkin.

NorCal Car Buy, Sell Ring Busted

By BOB PETERSON

San Bruno police made the first arrest in Northern California linked to an automobile buying and selling operation that has bilked Californians to the tune of more than a quarter million dollars this year.

Lt. Fred Freitas said the operation in the last two weeks in the Bay Area alone has, to the knowledge of police agencies, reached the $40,000 level.

Arrested was Jack Emil Heler, 30, of Hollywood. He was booked on charges of forgery of sales documents and state seals on drivers' licenses. Both charges are felonies.

According to Freitas a ring believed to consist of at least a dozen men, both black and white, has been working first Southern, then Northern California. The operation then switches back and forth.

He said the standard operating procedure is for a member of the group to pick up a newspaper and go through the want ads, finding a particular car—usually one valued at more than $3,500—and contacting the person trying to sell it.

Once the contact has been made with the selling party, the buyer will make arrangements to meet at the victim's home to see the car.

Freitas said the suspect will accept whatever amount the victim wishes to sell the car for. The suspect will then tell the victim to wait while a cashier's check for the desired amount can be obtained. The suspect returns at a pre-arranged time with the check, made out to the victim.

The cashier's check is a fake. According to Freitas, the operators print the checks themselves.

They go even a little further, so as not to be stuck with a car when it is found that the check bounces from the bank from which it is not written.

Taking the registration (pink slip) and the car, the suspect will drive to a nearby used car dealership.

There he will make up some story about needing to get rid of the car quickly. It could be his wife is sick, or he has to leave town. The story may vary.

Here, too, the suspect does not quibble over price, according to Freitas. And to make sure there is no question as to ownership, the suspect has one more ploy.

He will show the car dealer a fake (like the cashier's check he used to buy the car) driver's license.

A Silver Wedding Date Celebrated

The San Bruno home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fonseca was the setting on Saturday for a dinner honoring her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edward Wood, on their silver wedding anniversary. The celebration was co-hostessed by Mr. and Mrs. Fonseca and a second daughter, Linda Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood were married on November 16, 1946 in Centerline, Mich. and now live in Santa Rosa. They are also the parents of Barbara and Janet Wood of Santa Rosa and of Private William Walter Wood, USMC, of San Diego. They are the grandparents of Anthony and Tina Fonseca.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Fonseca and Ed Riley of South San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. George Fenisey of San Bruno; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dorcey of Pacifica; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Raam and Julius W. Hurt of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Matlock and their daugher Ona of Manteca, and Anthony E. Patrick of Santa Rosa.

Vista Mar P-TA States Opening Of Xmas Store

Christmas is just around the corner.

The hustle and bustle of shopping and decorating is about to begin all over again.

The Vista Mar P-TA is planning to make this a more enjoyable season for the children (and parents too!) by opening its "Christmas Store".

The store will be open for one day only, Friday, Dec. 3 at 2 p.m.

Children and parents will be able to shop for Christmas gifts for dad, mom, sisters and brothers, the whole family — and don't forget the teachers.

All prices are geared for kids, starting at a dime!

Choose from many hand made items made at the weekly workshops, as well as the wonderful donated gifts coming in.

Books, toys and games, white elephants, holiday gifts and decorations and food too, all go on sale at the Vista Mar P-TA "Christmas Store."

BECKY BURKE (left), Judy Glosser (center) and workshop chairman Donna Gonzales greeted children and parents at the "Sneak Preview" of the Vista Mar P-TA "Christmas Store." The "store" will be set up in the Vista Mar Multi-Use Room December 3, 2 p.m. to 8 p.m., sponsored by the Vista Mar School P-TA.

'Christmas Store' Workshops

Every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Vista Mar P-TA "Christmas Store" workshops are being conducted in the home of Donna Gonzales. Several projects are going simultaneously.

One group may be crocheting hats, ponchos and scarves — another making chokers — another making paper flowers — some working on stuffed toys, holiday items and many, many other wonderful ideas.

Other parents, who can not attend the workshops, also are making items.

The "Christmas Store" will be December 3 in the Vista Mar Multi-Use Room, from 2 to 8 p.m.

Holiday Pressures Building

Happy Thanksgiving Day!

With holiday activities beginning to increase and the pressures beginning to build you might be in the humor to consider getting-away-from-it-all.

If a trip sounds like a good idea, Mrs. John Ferguson, publicity chairma for the Riordan High School Guild, suggests that you investigate the Marianist International Study tours.

Brother Robert N. Costa, S.M. Director, Hawaiian Science Study tour will be at Riordan High School on Monday, November 29, at 8 p.m. to give information about the Marianist International Study Tours.

According to Mrs. Ferguson the meeting will be held in room 201.

Additional information about the tours may be obtained from Brother Costa, 586-8200.

MRS. GEORGE SIGIGIE reminds members of the Holy Angels Women's Guild that the regular December meeting will be held on next Wednesday evening.

As is the guild's tradition this will be the annual Christmas party and potluck dinner. Mrs. Joseph Gumina and Mrs. Dan Regan are the chairmen and they would appreciate everyone who plans to attend calling them prior to Monday so that the type of dish to be brought by the various individuals can be arranged.

Call Mrs. Gumihna at 756-3325 or Mrs. Regan, 756-3889, at your earliest convinience.

RESERVATIONS are now abailable to those planning to attend the Presbyterian Hospital Christmas party on December 5.

Mrs. Selmar Monro is the chairman of the festive event which will be held in the Rusty Scupper restaurant in San Francisco a week from Sunday between 3 and 6 p.m.

Guests making a $2.50 donation to the auxiliary will be served complimentary mulled wine and a varied selection of hot hors d'oeuevrs during the course of the evening's fun.

Localties who are serving on the party committee are Mrs. R. L. Ariani, Mrs. Bruce Bosley, Mrs. Murray H. Freedman, Mrs. Gerald Marks, Mrs. Richard McCalin and Mrs. Merton K. Mathewson.

To make your reservations call the Presbeterian Hospital, 931-8000, extension 541.

MEMBERS OF THE Mary's Help Hospital Guild are still enthusiasticaly talkings about the successful conclusion to Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at Sereramont Center.

Mrs. Shelly Mangini, who chaired the extensive effort, reports that the guild made over $2000. For the cardiac care center at the hospital.

Guild members remain busy as they work on the Boutique de Noel, currently underway in the hospital solarium, and get ready for the Christmas cocktail party.

Latest reports on guild membership shows that Mrs. Edward Andrews, Mrs. Bernard Allendorf, Mrs. Robert Altendorf, Mrs. Nick Elchinoff, and Mrs. John Freund are among the newest volunteers to join the guild.

Others who have recently added their names to the membership roll are Mrs. Florence Nelson, Mrs. Fred Pardini, Mrs. Henry Przyborowski, Sheryl Sackett, Lesley Windhorst, Mrs. Wallace Wrott, Mrs. Oreste Zampatti, Mrs Richard Becketti, Mrs. Douglas Bergwall, Mrs. Paul Domeniconi, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Rosario Forte, Mrs. Charles Grech, Mrs. Richard Guiliani, Mrs. Heyfron, and Mrs. Greg Kerwin

THE "SUPPORT worthy Institutions 'n' Give Each Regardless," commonly referred to as "The Swingers" held a Roaring 20's party at the Atherton Club last week to raise money for the Muscular Dystrophy and Blind Babies, Inc. funds.

Daly City resident Mrs. Martin Solomon is president of the club and she and her husband were among the appropriately costumed party-goers. Others from the local scene who wore garb from the 20's were Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Ariani, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Minin, Mr. and Mrs. James Gamlen, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Freedman.

CANTIQUE DE NOEL—Mrs. Bruce Burnett, president of the Women's Society of the United Methodist Church of Daly City, will hold its "Cantique de Noel" December 4, including a French luncheon, 12-2, boutique 11 a.m.-3 p.m., at 1474 Southgate Ave. Showing a sample of what will be offered (left to right are Mrs. Neuton Anderson, chairman of the boutique, Mrs. Bruce Burnett and Miss Virginia McKeag, chairman of gift items. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Robert Blazer, 1112 Nimitz Drive, Colma. (Post Photo)

Terra Nova Topics

By Rockie Montenegro

One of Terra Nova's most significant curriculum proposals last year — Culture Day — has been drastically reduced from a full day of activity to a three hour session because once again parents and administrators have expressed a lack of faith in the abilities of high school students to think and plan for themselves.

The original proposal of a monthly full-day of cultural activities, experiences, and workshops which was to be made available to TN students as a way of enriching their cultural spheres has been reduced and revised into the monthly three hour activity session that is currently being considered by the TN Planning Council.

The reason for the reduction and revision of these cultural activities was, as usual, due to the fact that parents and administrators thought that many students would not use their time to attend these activities, and that it would result in mass student cutting.

This was the same reason that students were not permitted to have an open campus. But what do parents put their children in school for? It seems to me that many parents consider school as nothing more than a federal babysitting service, to which they send their children for the purpose of keeping them out of mischief.

It is amazing to me that these same parents expect these kids to go through high school with all of their decisions neatly made for them, then miraculously change into adults the day they graduate from high school, ready to make their own decisions and lead their own lives.

As in the original plan, each student would have the opportunity to select activities he would like to attend from a pre-scheduled list of activities. Activities would range through movies, arts and crafts demonstrations, guest speakers, and concerts. It was also suggested that some groups of students could arrange field trips in order to attend culturally oriented activities in San Fancisco, such as art exhibits or professional Shakespeare productions, for their culture day activity.

The idea of the program is to offer the student a variety of culture activites to choose from, exposing him to new aspects of culture, and providing the time during which he could take advantage of these opportunities and activities. The whole day of activities would also give the student a sense of independence and a certain degree of academic freedom in which he could individually pursue his interests, discover new interests, and schedule his own time around the activities offered to him. All this would have been in an unstructured atmosphere, without having to be led by the hand by teachers, parents, and administrators.

High school is by no means a realistic preparation for life. One of the reasons that it isn't is because parents continuously insult the intelligence of the students and deny them the opportunities that would allow them to demonstrate their ability to think on their own.

The three hour culture session, if it is passed, will still be of enriching value to students. But the value will be limited to what it was originally programmed to have accomplished.

'Rap Session' Heads Up Busy Girl Scout Calendar

THE POST'S Family Forum

A "rap session" led by Mmes. Frederick Stewart and Paul Walters with Stanley Nowicki and Rodman Barnes at Hope Lutheran Church recently, evaluated the local training sessions and provided help with working with girls.

Attending were Mmes. Shirley Fong, Joan Passanisi, Lynne Bolden, Jack McDowell, Stanley Chung, Rose Marie Batistoni, Gayle Montalbaun and Ann Theis.

Mrs. Denise H. Dahlberg, leader of troop No. 2059, was joined by new Girl Scout adults Mmes. Leonard Russo, Thomas McGowan, Wm. Tiefenthal, Wm. Whelan, and David Sullivan in an investiture and rededication ceremony recently at Vista Mar School.

Debbie Fine, Diane McGowan, Joan Unmacht, Cindy. Turchino, Annette Fusaro, Linea Loberg, Audrey Tiefenthal, Roxanne Whelan, Christianne Ulukov, Francine Jacobs, Lisa Sullivan, Jennifer Sturdevant, Troylene Martine, Gabrielle Broderick and Carla Russo invited their parents to attend their ceremonies.

Mmes. Harry Courtright, leader and Marie Artau, co-leader, invested and rededicated the girls of Daly City troop No 355 recently.

Invested girls included Lisa Artau, Charlene Chervellers, Stacey Courtright, Laura Covarrubias, Charlen Gandelfi, Roxanne Hernan, Elizabeth Lapachet, Karen Liston, Christine Russell, Mary Scott, and June Till.

Rededicated girls include Becky Newman, Eva Ochos, Michel'e and Rachel Pleich, Pam Russell and Kim Wise.

Adults registering with the troop include Mmes. Stanley Newman, Michael Pleich, Sam Chervellers, Billy Smith, Manuel Ochos and R. A. Till.

The Daly City Girl Scout Membership Committee met recently to "brainstorm" new ideas to increase membership, at the home of Mrs. Al Schwarzbach.

Included in the committee were Mmes. R. Courpet (Louise), asst. chairman; James Morino, chairman; Wm. Kennaugh (Jeanne), Association chairman; Al Schwarzbach (Denise), director of organizers; Nancy Dahlberg; and Ruth Metzger, field staff.

Girl Scouts included in the committee are Nancy Luders, Senior: Robyn Stuhr, Senior: Judy Provenzale, Cadette, and Karen Pleich, Cadette.

Daly City Girl Scout troop No. 715 held its investiture and rededication ceremony on November 1 in the multi-use room of Christopher Columbus School, according to Mmes. Jack Winters and David Dale, troop leader and co-leader.

Rhodora Brooks, Antonette Cortez, Yolanda Jackson, Julia Prieto and Carol Segur were invested. Corrine Antunez, JoAnn Carlson, Sharon Chiechi, Karen Dale, Laura De Barros, Monica Edwards, Vicki Edwards, Nicky Garvin, Jamie Johnston, Wilma Kios, Sandra Luippold, Stacey Palmer, Mary Pult, Nancy Rainville, Sharon Scarpino, Karen Schwarzbach, Arlene Smith, Arnette Terry, Cathy Winters and Jacklyn Winters were rededicated into the troop.

Arlene and Sharon Cuadra, Linda Fitzgerald and Valerie Sanders visited the troop with intentions to join in the near future. Parents and friends enjoyed the impressive candlelight ceremony, followed by refreshments prepared and served by the girls.

An investiture and rededication ceremony recently at Olympia School was the highlight for Brownie troop No. 479 led by Mrs. Betty Rebizzo with Mmes. Shirley Ting and Diane La Vine.

NELL NORTON

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Today is Thanksgiving and I hope it is the happiest of days for you and those you love.

When Thanksgiving is here, can Christmas be far behind? Just about a month. Which means that this weekend is the right time to bake that fruitcake that needs a month to mellow to it's best for Christmas eating.

Before we start to bake the cake, it's important to prepare the pans carefully. Since fruitcake takes a long time to bake, we must add extra protection to keep it from burning and sticking to the pan.

Thoroughly grease pan cut heavy brown paper to fit bottom and sides of pan, grease paper. Then place wax paper in pan and lightly grease this paper. This is rather sticky work, so it's a good idea to get this all out on the way before you start on the mixing and fixing of the fruit cake

OLD TIME FRUIT CAKE

3 cups seedless raisins
1½ cups seeded raisins
1 cup citron
1 cup candied orange peel
½ cup candied lemon peel
3 slices candied pineapple
1 cup red candied cherries
2 cups walnuts, coarsley cut

Rinse and dry the three cups seedless raisins and one and one half cups seeded raisins.

If you buy the candied fruit whole, then slice the one cup each citron and orange peel, half cup lemon peel and three slices pineapple. Cut the one cup cherries in half and combine all in large bowl. Add the two cups nuts.

1 pound butter
2½ cups sugar
8 eggs, well beaten
1 cup currant jelly
½ cup apricot nectar

Cream the pound butter with the two and one-half cups sugar. Add the eight beaten eggs and mix well. Blend in the cup currant jelly and half cup nectar. Set aside while you prepare the dry ingredients.

5½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons soda
3 teaspoons baking powder
3 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves

Sift together (over and over) the five and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons salt, one and one-half teaspoons soda, three teaspoons each baking powder and cinnamon, one teaspoon each allspice, cloves and mace.

Add the sifted ingredients to the creamed mixture and mix well. ADD TWO TEASPOONS WHISKEY, mix again.

Pour the batter over the fruit and nuts. This requires lots of mixing and I find that clean hands are better than any spoon for this, so just roll up your sleeves and mix away.

Divide batter between one large tube pan and two one-pound coffee cans. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Lower temperature to 275-degrees and bake 2½ hours longer. NOTE: The pound coffee cans should be done in about 1 hour and 30 minutes. But test with straw before removing from oven.

Place a pan of water in bottom oven during baking time, this will give the cakes a shiny top and prevent them from becoming too dry during baking.

When cakes are done, remove from oven and allow to cool on racks about 15 minutes. Remove from pans, place on racks and cool completely. Remove papers and wrap in cheesecloth wrung out in wine or whiskey. Wrap in foil and store in cool dry place to mellow.

I received an inquirey from a good cook about using fresh pumpkin in pies. I must confess I've always used canned pumpkin, so had to check through my cookbook for the desired information.

Halve, remove seeds and stringy portion. Cut into small pieces and pare. Cook in small amount boiling salted water covered for 25 to 30 minutes. Drain well and mash. Use in your favorite pumpkin pie recipe.

Cranberry With Bird

One of the best accompaniments to Thanksgiving turkey is the cranberry.

Usually served in the canned variety, it makes a delicious flavor addition, particularly to white meat.

One of my favorite leftover turkey recipes is a white meat sandwich with lettuce, mayonnaise and cranberry sauce on extra-rich white bread.

OVEN STEAMED
CRANBERRY MINCEMEAT PUDDING
(Makes 8 servings)

2 cups boiling water
2 cups fresh cranberries, halved, rinsed and drained
1 package (9 ounces) concentrated mincemeat, crumbled
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup molasses
3½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking soda

Combine water, cranberries and mincemeat; let stand 10 minutes. Cream butter, then stir in sugar and molasses. Sift dry ingredients and stir into butter alternately with cranberry mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Pour mixture into a greased 2½-quart mold. Cover with greased lid or foil. Bake at 350 degrees F. for about 1½ hours or until pudding tests done. (Cake tester inserted in center will come out clean.) Cool in mold about 15 minutes, then tap to loosen and unmold on a serving platter. Serve warm with hard sauce, garnished with spiced or candied cranberries, if desired.

CRANBERRY BREAD
PUDDING STUFFING
(Makes one 2-quart casserole or one 9x5x3-inch loaf)

8 cups ½-inch bread cubes, lightly toasted
1 cup fresh cranberries, halved, rinsed and drained
½ cup pitted chopped prunes
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped onion (1 medium)
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
one-third cup butter, melted
3 eggs, well beaten
1 can (10½) ounces) condensed chicken broth OR 1½ cups rich chicken stock

Mix together toasted bread cubes, cranberries, prunes, celery, onion, salt and poultry seasoning. Sprinkle with melted butter and toss to blend. Spoon mixture into heavily greased 2-quart casserole or 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Beat eggs and chicken broth until well blended. Pour mixture over bread. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1 hour or until firm. Loosen edges and unmold. Cut into slices and serve with chicken or turkey.

HOT MULLED
CRANBERRY PUNCH
(Serves 8)

1 quart cranberry juice cocktail
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated lemonade
1 cup grape juice
1½ cups water
2 cinnamon sticks
10 whole cloves
Lemon slices

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Bring to a boil, lower heat and simmer 10 minutes. Remove spices and serve at once garnished with lemon slices.

Too late, you say, for use today? Remember, Christmas isn't far away.

Chapter Will Hold Meeting In SSF Home

The next regular meeting of Xi Lambda Sigma Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will be held Monday, December 6, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. C. M. Sheridan, 7 Felton Ave., South San Francisco.

The cultural program will consist of "Clothing for Madame" by Mrs. Ed Reid, also "Grooming" by Mrs. Alan Shaw.

Mrs. Gerald Baird of San Bruno was honored at the last meeting, as a new member, with champagne, cake, and the traditional yellow rose of the sorority.

The chapter was recently entertained by Xi Kappa Upsilon with an "International" dinner at the home of Mrs. Clyde Osborne in Millbrae.

In keeping with the custom of each chapter in the Northern Peninsula Inter-City Council entertaining another member chapter once during the year.

Each hostess member contributed a dish that was typical of another country.

Holy Angels Yule Sale

Mrs. Joseph Zanobini and Mrs. John McCloskey, co-chairmen of the Christmas boutique-food sale by Holy Angels Women's Guild announced the selection of December 4 and 5 as the dates of the sale.

Gifts, cookies, cake and candy will be featured at the Parish hall after the 5:30 mass on Saturday and beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday.

A light breakfast will be served on Sunday.

Holy Angels Women's Guild gives a deserving boy and girl in the eighth grade graduating class a scholarship to a Catholic school of their choice and proceeds from the Boutique-Food Sale go into this fund.

Jazz Chorus Will Sing at Centers

Westmoor's Jazz Chorus will sing when it goes to Stonestown, Serramonte and Westlake Shopping Centers for community appearances in December.

Howard Loeffler, music teacher, will lead the chorus, assisted by Sandy McLennon, the student leader. The singing girls will be accompanied on the guitar by Russ Golub.

Jazz chorus members will perform at Stonestown on December 1 at 7:30 p.m.; Serramonte Shopping Center, on December 7 at 7 p.m., and Westlake Shopping Center at 7:30 p.m. on December 15.

"Chestnuts Roasting on An Open Fire," "O Holy Night," "Silver Bells," "Hanukkah Holiday," "Carol of the Bells," "Star of Bethlehem," "Snow, Snow, Beautiful Snow," and "Winter Wonderland" are among the songs chosen by the chorus.

Rec Journey For Children

The Daly City recreation Department this week announced an outing for boys and girls who are 7-13 years of age to Marine World on Friday.

The cost per child is $2, including admission to all attractions, transportation, and insurance. Children should take a lunch or money for the concession stand.

The bus will make two pickups: War Memorial Community Center at 10:15 a.m. and Westmoor Park Clubhouse at 10:30 a.m. There will be adult supervision.

St. Augustine Men, Women Party Slated

The Catholic Men and Women's Clubs f St. Augustine Church in South San Francisco will hold their annual Christmas Dinner Dance on Saturday, Dec. 4.

This holiday event will be at Serra High School in San Mateo. The evening begins at 6:30 p.m. with no-host cocktails and continues with dinner at 8 p.m. and dancing until 1 a.m.

Father Paul E. Duggan, Pastor, and Chairman Barbara Ramos invite all to attend. Tickets are $13 per couple.

Reservations may be made through Mrs. R. Gill at 589-7417. For further information contact the Parish Center at 873-2282.

Lawrence-Tieri to Speak To DC Friends of Library

The Friends of the Daly City Library will hold its next book review meeting Thursday, December 2, at 10 a.m. in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library, 275 Southgate Avenue.

Mrs. F. Lincoln Walter, Chairman of Book Reviews, will present Robert Lawrence-Tieri, Head of Sales for Books, Incorporated, of San Francisco, who will speak on "Trends in Reading and Why."

His subject will encompass current books noted for their excellence as well as well as those on the best seller lists and a number of children's books.

A native of Philadelphia, Penn., he holds a Masters Degree in Drama from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

A member of the St. Lawrence family of vaudeville fame, Lawrence-Tieri's background in the theater ranged from boy soprano with Paul Whiteman, to several Broadway hit productions.

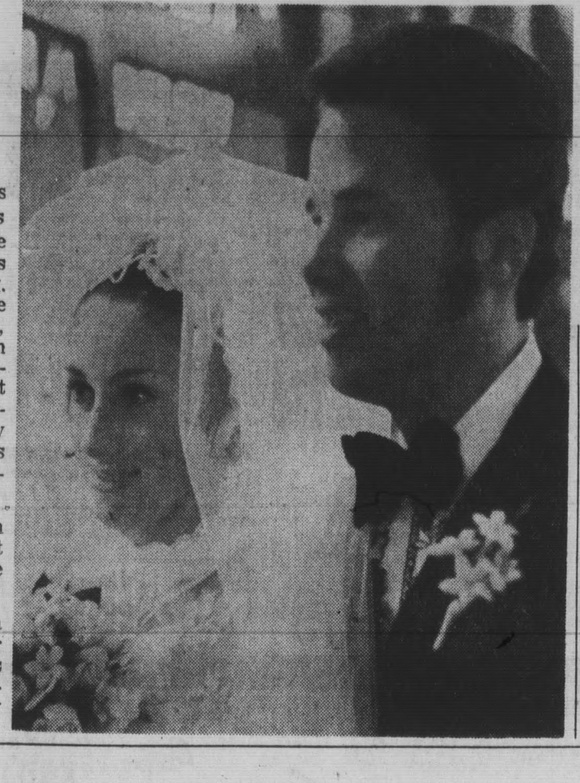
From 1947-59 he was drama and book critic for WOR, a New York metropolitan radio station.

He came to the coast to work with Big Crosby, who was interested in starting a local radio station but who abandoned the plan. He next went with Doubleday to engage in editing and publicity. He left there to open Brentano's book department at the City of Paris, remaining there for eight years before taking his present position with Books, Inc.

Every summer Lawrence-Tieri participates in the Mills College Seminar for authors, publishers, and literary agents from all over the nation. He is the only representative of the retail booksellers and speaks on the retailing side of writing. He has reviewed books for the California Club of California, City Club, and the Association of American University Women, as well as the retirement homes at Lake Park and Rossmoor. He has published poetry to his credit and at present is writing a history of the American musical theater.

Mesdames Windsor Josselyn and Albert Teglia will serve at the coffee social before the book review.

Following the program, a no-host luncheon in the Bunker Room of the Crystal Springs Golf Course will honor Lawrence-Tieri. Reservations may be made that morning.



Millbrae is the first address for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Haydel (Carmen Aquilina) who were married at All Souls Catholic Church and honeymooned in San Simeon and Carmel. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aquilina of South San Francisco and Mr and Mrs. Earl Haydel, also of South City, are the benedict's parents. (Staggs Photo)

WHS 'Garage Sale' and Boutique Set

Mrs. Herbert Decker, ways and means chairman of Westmoor Music Boosters has announced plans of a Christmas boutique and "garage sale" to be held December 4-5 at 378 El Dorado Drive, Daly City.

The 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. fund-raising project will benefit the various music groups at the high school, including Stage Band, Jazz Choir, Marching Band and new flag-bearing Color Guards.

Donated toys, household items, furniture, clothing, games, books, records, sport equipment, jewelry and other items, including hand-made gifts will be offered.

Donated items should be taken to Westmoor's band room — or call 992-3381, 755-4629 or 956-2459 for a pick up.

Cakes or cookies should be delivered to the school on December. 3 or on the sale dates.

Aluminum, Gift Stars Sought

Cub Pack 362 is collecting items made of aluminum and gift stars to raise funds to be used by "Aid to Retarded Children Workshop," located on Ninth Avenue in San Francisco.

Funds from the sale of aluminum will be used to train retarded children to perform simple vocational and household duties so they may become self-supporting.

Coupons found on cigarettes and Golden Grain macaroni are turned in for household furnishings, to set up households in which a group of five or six of these retarded individuals will be self-sustaining, not institutionalized.

Den Mother Mrs. Pat Baker, 1982 Wildwood Way, Daly City, has details.

J-Teen Skating Trip Planned

The Castaways Junior Teen Club, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, is planning a roller skating party at the Rolladium, San Mateo, November 26.

The bus will pick up club members and their guests at Skyline School at 6:45 p.m. and return at about 11 p.m.

The cost is $1.50 for members and $1.75 for guests. Cost covers admission and skate rental, bus transportation, and trip insurance.

Coast Painting Classes Slated

A class in oils and acrylics will be held in the community room of the Pacifica Library (Sharp Park), beginning December 2, from 7:30-10:30, for three consecutive Thursdays.

A fee of $9 will be charged.

Sandy Hagan, who has been teaching painting at the Periwinkle Art Gallery, will be the instructor.

In January, Mrs. Hagan plans a new class in drawing in addition to her present instructions in painting. Emphasis in the drawing class will be placed upon developing an understanding of the basic elements of composition and will be elementary and academic in nature.

Ceramics Class To Be Started

Directed by Brent Rusert, the Daly City Recreation Department's fall-winter ceramics workshop will begin December 2.

BAZAAR SET

The Sisterhood of Congregation Beth-Israel Judea will hold its annual Chanukah Bazaar on November 29 from 10 a.m.-7 p.m. and on November 30 from 10 a.m.-9 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, 625 Brotherhood Way, San Francisco.

Dear Friends:

One of the greatest concerns facing all of us today is the Drug Problem and the effect it is casting on our community and people in all walks of life.

Many of us are parents and sooner or later we may be faced with the fact that someone near and dear to us is using drugs in one form or another. We may not know it but all drug effects are not apparent and may take months, even years, before we notice that we have a drug user close to us.

In order to even begin to cope with this problem, we must as a community join together and become informed, as well as involved in the education and control of drugs.

I earnestly solicit your help and I sincerely invite every retailer in the entire Bay Area to join with me and the employees of Ross Dept. Stores to give out pamphlets, take space in our ads and let it become "Ap-Parent" now! Join us...let us fight this problem together.

Sincerely,

William Isackson

William Isackson, President

P. S. To know the facts first hand, may I suggest you contact your local Office of Drug Abuse to speak to an organization you belong to or to your business associates.

SSF's Finish, Season Perfect

By JERRY LITTRELL

South San Francisco High School inflicted enough physical and emotional damage upon El Camino last Saturday to make the Colts eligible for Medicare while still in their teens.

Everything the Warriors did turned out right. Not only did South City complete an undefeated season with the 46-0 victory but the Warriors managed to continue that oppressive scoreless streak that began eons ago when the North Peninsula League first opened. In the 10-year history of the NPL Camino has never scored a touchdown against SSF and has only one safety to its credit.

The Warriors broke all sorts of records in this one. The 46 points was the most ever scored against a Camino team. South City's defense stopped the Colt running game at minus 11 yards and intercepted six EC passes.

On offense the Warriors were unstoppable. Quarterback Rhod Wallace completed six of nine throws for 135 yards and two scores while halfback Hank Love carried 18 times for 145 yards and two touchdowns. All totaled SSF racked up 479 yards total offense.

Ray DeJong's lads intercepted four first-half passes and three led directly to touchdowns. Defensive back Bob Bachtold picked off the first Camino aerial attempt and ran 24 yards for the touchdown. Then after Tom Crumpton made it 13-0 with a five-yard run, Bachtold nabbed his third interception on the Camino 45 and three plays later Crumpton went right up the gut for a 13-yard score.

Rob Goldstein then grabbed another interception on the next series setting up a three-play, 21-yard drive capped by Love's one-yarder. The day's most spectacular play, however, was engineered when Wallace handed off to Love on a sweep and the Warrior halfback stopped, threw clear back across the field to Wallace, who was shamefully uncovered, and the Warrior quarterback ran 49 yards to the one. He kept on the next play and South City led, 46-0.

Camino twice came close to scoring. Quarterback Rudy Castellanos threw a perfect touchdown pass from the 35 in the third quarter but the ball hit the receiver on the helmet and fell harmlessly down. Then, in the last quarter, Tim Cowen took a Warrior kickoff on the 17, busted a gang tackle at the 29 and ran all the way to the Warrior 35. A personal foul brought the ball to the 20 and again Castellanos found an open receiver but this time the ball hit him in the hands and fell off.

It's spelled f-r-u-s-t-r-a-t-i-o-n.

Cap Miscast as 'Spoiler' In MPL Play With Falcons

By STEVE LOKKER

Capuchino's football team auditioned for the role of the spoiler Friday afternoon but found out that they were miscast.

The Mustangs, in sixth place in the Mid-Peninsula League football race, tried to knock the Crestmoor Falcons out of second. But the final curtain saw Crestmoor bowing out with an 8-6 win.

The victory gives the Falcons a 4-2 MPL mark and assures them of at least a tie for second. San Mateo and Burlingame share the league lead with 4-1 marks and play each other today.

A loss by either will drop them into the runner-up spot along with the Falcons. Hillsdale also figures into the plot with a 3-2 showing.

Their final game, against Aragon (0-5), could propel them into second place along with Crestmoor and either San Mateo or Burlingame.

The Mustangs looked perfect for the spoiler part throughout the first half as they took a 6-2 lead, this despite the fact that they were statistically outplayed.

Stunning the Falcons with a TD on the game's first series of downs, Capuchino marched from the Crestmoor 46 in seven plays to build a 8-0 lead. Paul Accinelli scored from the two on a fourth down play. The key to the drive was a 47-yard pass from Ken Swan to John Bomba, putting the ball on the Crestmoor four.

Through the rest of the first half, it looked as if the lone TD might hold up for a Mustang upset. Crestmoor scored in the second period as a snap from center on a Cap punt sailed out of the end zone for a safety.

Statistically, Capuchino was outplayed in the first half as Crestmoor ran 33 plays for 97 total yards to Cap's 19 plays and 67 yards. Crestmoor came close to taking the lead at the gun but their drive died on the Mustang three.

Mistakes plagued the Mustangs in the first half, highlighted by the safety. Errors cost them the game in the second half.

The Capuchino defense apparently stopped the Falcon's initial drive in the second half on the two-yard line. But on the first play, Swan fumbled and Kevin Ruanc apparently misreading the scipt, reocfered the ball in the end zone for the Crestmoor TD and an 8-6 lead.

Capuchino spent the rest of the afternoon buried deep within their own territory while Crestmoor penetrated the Mustang 20 three more times. Twice fourth down plays were stopped by the Cap defense and the third time saw the play ended by the final gun.

North Peninsula Play

Westmoor Downs Regents, T.N. Wins, Oceana Loses

Three-fourths of the North Peninsula League drew to a satisfying close Friday afternoon with first-division teams winning the second division teams scoring. The South San Francisco-El Camino encounter was Saturday.

Terra Nova 34, Jefferson 20

In Friday's action, Terra Nova outlasted Jefferson, 34-20, Westmoor downed winless Serramonte, 24-8, and Half Moon Bay pulled above the .500 mark with a 34-8 victory over Oceana.

Quarterback John Racannelli passed and handed the ball to four different touchdown producers and the defense came up with a fifth as the Tigers withstood the Jefferson aerial circus for their fifth conference win, the best Terra Nova has ever done in NPL play.

Falling briefly behind when Anthony Aaron scored one of his two touchdowns on a three-yard run, the Tigers roared back when Racannelli found Dave Lutz from the 28 and John Riewertz picked off a Chinto Fonseca pass for a 55-yard interception return.

Jeff briefly tied the score at 14-all when Aaron busted over from the one but TN came back with three straight scores on Lous Sanchez' 25-yard run, Steve Garrison's four-yarder, and Gary Pruitt's 38 pass reception from Racannelli.

Fonseca, the league's record-setting passer, was 17 for 31 for 151 yards. In league play the diminutive thrower has fired 220 passes and completed 113 for eight touchdowns. Overall, Fonseca has 151 completions in 293 tries for 10 scores. His 1,391 league passing yard is a new NPL mark.

Wetmoor 24, Serramonte 8

Brian MacNamara kicked a 45-yard field goal, Bob McLennan set a new single season pass catching record and the Rams finished the season in strong fashion with the win over the Regents.

MacNamara's kick which travelled 56 yards after the soccer-style boot, gave Westmoor a 10-1 lead after Tom Price returned a punt 45 yards for the initial Ram score. Nick LeBlanc and Norm Infusino both scored for Westmoor but it was the Ram defense, holding Serramonte to a minus three yards rushing, that paced the win.

McLennon caught six passes for 80 yards, to take the single-season record for yardage by 15 yards.

For the luckless Regents it was a moral victory as it was only the second time all season they managed to score, having scored one touchdown five weeks ago against Jeferson. It was a tough first year for the newly instated Regents.

Half Moon Bay 34 Oceana 8

Frankie Reyes and Jeff Yerian both ended brilliant grid careers at HMB with the 34-point outpouring. Fullback Chris Wade carried the ball just two times but totaled 139 yards rushing as he tallied once on an 85-yard scamper.

Reyes opened the scoring with a three-yard rollout and Yerian added the second one from the nine. After Wade's mammoth run Reyes scored from the five and Yerian took his turn with a 13-yard run.

Bearcats Tie for Harrier Title

By STEVE JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

There's something about the Hallmark Homes course in Belmont that makes cross-country meets awfully hard to get over and done with.

Last week before the MPL finals, officials had to fight off a brush fire to get the proceedings under way. Thursday's Region I Qualifying meet had no fire, but that turned out to be just about the only thing missing.

Runners from 22 different schools were forced to knife their way through various wind blasts and icy gusts in order to find out who qualifies for the Central Coast Section Meet November 24, in San Jose. And up until the varsity meet, the operation went smoothly. The luck didn't last.

When this race had finished, it appeared to most folk in the area that San Mateo was the Region I champ. And then St. Ignatius had apparently won. Everybody had an opinion, but nobody had the real answer. Finally, the official word came. San Mateo? SI? Nope — a tie.

Although ties are rated on the excitement scale somewhere between snail racing and rug sewing contests, this one really wasn't too bad. SI and San Mateo will share the Region title, but both will get berths to the CCS meet, and that's the most important thing. Hillsdale and Riordan get the other two Large School spots, after finishing third and fourth respectively.

And, despite having the MPL and WCAL gobble up all four team qualifying positions, it was the NPL that produced Thursday's individual winner. Jim Van Dine of El Camino (the NPL Champ) ran the three mile course in 15:39, one of the better marks ever recorded on that layout.

Van Dine dominated the whole way, with only tiny Chris Cole of SI giving any kind of challenge. Cole, the WCAL individual winner, stayed with Van Dine for about the first mile and a half, then the tireless Colt poured it on and won by a safe 13 seconds.

Don Pemberton of Hillsdale, last week's hero, turned in the best time of any MPL runner with 16:15 and fifth place. Teammate Rob Barnett was right behind in sixth, and it was this duo, along with Scott Gahagen (18th) that pushed the Knights into their strong third place showing.

The meet was about as close as you'll ever see in cross-country. Only eight points and 31 seconds separated the top four teams, and in a sport where breathtaking victories aren't exactly the in thing, that's stringing it a little close.

In the varsity Small School division, however, the finish was a bit more decisive. Powerful Oceana, undefeated the last three years in dual meet competition, took NPL rival Half Moon Bay for the championship for the second straight week. Seven days ago, the Sharks won their league title by tripping the Cougars in the finals. Both teams, after the 1-2 finish, get CCS berths in the Small School class.

Bob McDaniels and Victor Torres took the first two places to cinch Oceana's victory. HMB's Rudy Snyders grabbed third for the Cougs' best showing.

Crestmoor and Westmoor, the poetry twins, tied for the Frosh-Soph Large School title, with San Mateo and Mills gaining the other two coveted big-meet spots.

The Black Knights Take First Place

The Black Knights took over sole possession of first place in the Parks, Beaches and Recreation department sponsored Adult Basketball League.

The French Club crushed Rochester Clothing, 70-47. Joe Donnelly and Tim Meza hit for 23 and 13 points respectively in the victory for the French Club. Charles Thomas paced the losers with 12 points. The win was number "1" for the French Club.

Dick Drake and Mike Kennedy combined for 33 points as Kerri's Coffee Shop demolished Dial Glass 78-37. Gary Labelle and John Leland paced the losers with 8 points apiece.

The Black Knights rolled to their fourth straight victory, edging past the Moonraker, 56-54. Curt Clark led the Black Knights' offense with 23 points, while Sandy Beall was high for the losers with 20 points.

The 1971 edition of the Community Center Flag Football League has ended.

The Northern Division winners: sixth grade — Westview Wonders, Fifth grade — West view Warriors, and Third and Fourth grade — Westview Wildcats.

The Southern Division winners: Sanchez Lions won the sisth grade title and Third and, Fourth and Fifth grade was won by the Ortega Cowboys.

Westmoor Girls Form Cage Unit For NPL Action

Westmoor High School Girl Globetrotters?

Well, that may not be what they go by, but for the first time in the school's history, the Girl's Athletic Association (GAA) Program has organized a 'Ramette" basketball team and has entered into the North Peninsula League.

Also in the league are Half Moon Bay, South City, El Camino and Terra Nova. Next year Jefferson and Serramonte may join.

Members include girls from all four classes, but the team has been hampered by injuries incurred during practice, with Sheila Colombana and Patty Rowell suffering from badly sprained fingers.

Other girls on the "A" team include Mel Warren, Barbara Manning, Mel Coyle and Carol Van Zuiden. Members on the "B" team include Shawn Whiteman, Darice Robinson, Judy Kapkin, Kathy Smith, Michele Pellegrini, Janice Young, Jeri Markinson, Hortie Duronslet, Alberta Diesman and Nora Hall.

Indian Named Rookie of Year

ENCINITAS, Calif. (AP)—"It's the greatest thing in my life," Chris Chambliss said after being named American League Rookie of the Year Monday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

"This is my greatest honor—then, next year the pennant."

Chambliss hit a solid .275 in 111 games, with nine home runs and 48 runs batted in.

As an indication of the Indians' recent fortunes, Chambliss is their first rookie of the year since Herb Score won the honor in 1955, the year after their latest pennant.

Sportscripts

No writer—whatever flippant surface view he may offer—enjoys negative comments on his creations. At best, he learns to tolerate them, but every once in a while one of them hurts.

I got one such comment a couple of months ago that is still burning, so I'm going to —with permission from your patience—exorcize it by writing about it.

It was one of several adverse comments I received, both written and oral, about a column I did on the day I literally had my head examined. That is, I got what the medical pros call an EEG. I wrote what I considered to be a light-hearted, perhaps even humorous piece on my particular experience with that test. It was all true, except for the last line ("... diagnosis was cheap gin."), no exaggeration, and was in a grim sort of way, actually, literally funny. At least to me.

Much to my surprise, as I've already indicated, several readers not only thought there was nothing at all amusing about it, but one or two even hinted that it was in bad taste. The one comment that really hurt, though, was a scathing letter from the father of a palsied child who for some twisted reason felt that I had made fun of such children.

My first reaction was to write to him (which I couldn't because, naturally, there was no return address) asking if he had ever written a scathing letter to Jerry Lewis, who has made a career of mimicking spastic children.

My second reaction, which has taken weeks to sink in, is to perhaps chance insulting the intelligence of my readers, and beg their indulgence while I go off sports for a time to offer a very elemental prose lecture on humor and its association with mental hygiene.

THE LINE BETWEEN humor and tragedy is as fine as that between love and hate, joy and sorrow. Think of the cliche headline, "I Shot Him Because I Loved Him." Remember all the times your mother or sister or wife wept, "because I'm so happy."

Laughing and crying are nothing more than releases of tensions, thus we cry to soothe the sorrow or the pent-up emotions, laugh for pretty much the same reasons.

My favorite nonfiction writer, the late syndicated columnist, humorist and philosopher Bugs Baer, once wrote, "Humor is tragedy standing on its head with a rip in its pants," and that's about as close as anyone is ever going to come to describing humor and its relationship to tragedy.

Think hard enough about it and you'll realize that most humor is built on someone else's misfortune. You laugh when someone slips on a banana peel, when Laurel and Hardy systematically destroy each other, at Mortimer Snerd's homeliness and stupidity, at Joe Frisco's stuttering or Pinky Lee's lisp, at Mickey Rooney's shortness, at Woody Allen's build and screwed up psyche, at Jackie Gleason's Poor Soul's ineptitude, at Archie's bigotry, at Charley Chaplin, the sad clown; you laugh — and we'll admit this is a simplistic explanation to one of the mysteries of all time — because you're glad it isn't you.

You're taught as a small child that it's cruel to laugh at a cripple, or a hump-back, or a person with crossed eyes. You're usually taught that after you've laughed at a cripple, or whatever, and embarrassed your parents. But the way that cripple walked or the cross-eyed person looked, was funny, because anything that is different from you is either to be feared or laughed at. If the thing that is different is not menacing, it is thus funny. It isn't socially gracious or very kind to laugh, but it's built in, and must be taught away.

THUS COMICS, or humorists, serve the function of allowing you to laugh without guilt, because laughing at make-believe unfortunates, or at people who are unfortunate on purpose, is socially acceptable.

It's no coincidence that many of the world's greatest comics have come from ghettos. Their ability to laugh at their situations, most will tell you, allowed them to survive.

Some of the world's most popular humor comes from foxholes, hospitals and graveyards. Naturally, you don't laugh at a funeral while you're attending it (though we've been at some pretty raucus Irish and Russian wakes), or at your gall bladder surgery as you come out of the anesthesia, or at the mortars whizzing over your head as you lie in a mudhole. But years later, after you've gained detachment, some of the funniest stories you tell took place at funerals, in hospitals, in the army.

There is the classic story about the golfer who interrupts his backswing to doff his ca pas a funeral procession passes on the freeway adjoining the golf course. His golf partner tells him he's seldom seen a nicer gesture.

"Well," says the golfer, snapping his cap back into place and lining up his shot, "it was the least I could do. Two more days and we would have been married 25 years."

A hospital standard is the one about the young surgeon who joins a group of colleagues in the cafeteria, slumps into a chair, wipes beads of perspiration off his forehead, and murmurs, "I certainly performed that last surgery in the nick of time. Another few hours and the patient would have recovered without it."

And then there is one about the handicapped that was making the rounds several years ago. A man enters a bar with one arm hunched up in his sleeve. The bartender asks him where he lost his arm. "Korea," says man, and the bartender sets him up with one on the house. Soon another man enters, one sleeve hanging from his shoulder, "You too?" says the bartender. "Yep," replies the man, "Quadalcanal." The bartender sets him up, too. Finally, a third man enters, both arms drawn up grotesquely. Tears come to the bartender's eyes as he says, "Where did you get yours?" Replies the man, "Schultz's Bargain Basement."

NOW, THE POINT to those stories is that I know people who have just lost loved ones, had surgery, and who are handicapped, who would laugh at them. Humor in the face of tragedy and timed sensibly is not in bad taste, it's a defense mechanism.

I know that the first reaction I'll get to this column will be from someone who will tell me that it's all well and good for me to laugh at illness and maybe even death, because I've probably never had to really go through it. So I'll answer that argument in advance. I don't want to set myself up as a martyr, because I'm certainly not, nor do I wish to be or make a numbers game of this, but I've lost my share of relatives and friends to war, age, illness, and just plain lousy luck. A couple of years ago, for example, my wife and I were able to count between us eight relatives who were either hospitalized with serious illness or died within a period of two months.

Ironically, as I started to write this column, my father was rushed to the hospital for major surgery. I myself grow kidney stones like California Poppies. Without thinking hard, I can personally account for six hospitalizations, ranging from a few days to 42 days in the isolation ward at the Fort Ord Army Hospital. (Did I ever tell you about the time they skipped my breakfast, prepared me for surgery, and were wheeling me into the operating room before I finally convinced them that it was the guy in the room NEXT to mine who had to have his lung collapsed that morning? They had given him my breakfast ,and consequently had to postpone his collapse until the next day. Now, THAT'S funny . . . not fun, but funny.)

I'M SORRY I DIDN'T write about sports this time, fans, but I just wanted to make it clear to that man with the palsied child that I wasn't making fun of or treating his son's affliction lightly.

And I also want him to know that while I may not have a choice between life and death, I will have one for HOW I go, and when I do leave this veil of tears, my choice is to go with a smile on my face, not a frown.

Warriors Win Soph Title Too

South San Francisco High School's already-crowded varsity football team has the added bonus of having another championship team from which to draw in 1972.

The younger Warriors won the sophomore title with a perfect 8-0 record Thursday by downing El Camino, 13-6. Everett Herrera scored on a one-yard run for SSF before Jeff Wilson's seven-yard scamper with just one minute remaining gave the Warriors the win.

South City had three shut-outs in their eight wins and three times held opposing teams to minus yardage. John McKeon was the leading ground-gainer.

Gymnastics Win

Unpredictable Sunday Loop

The Daly City Recreation Department's Sunday Softball League was as unpredictable as the Forty-Niners.

For starters, the Geramoni A.C. team beat the Radicals, 10-4, Geramoni's first win of the season over the Radicals.

The Radicals' loss puts them in a tie for second place with the winner of the Ponies-Mets game.

The winner of that game will play the Radicals for the second place trophy.

The Geramoni A.C. had excellent hitting by the whole team as everyone got at least one hit. The A.C. defense finally looked like the defense it was supposed to be. Jim Fischer and Joel Carrara were outstanding for the A.C. team John Cannon had three hits for the winner which included a single, double and triple. Lonnie Shaddox got two hits for the Radicals and played excellent defense.

The Misfits won their second game of the season over the previously undefeated Chiefs. The Misfits have come to life late in league play and proved it with their impressive 11-7 victory. Pitcher Ron Knights kept the Chiefs off stride for most of the game.

Ram Freshmen Win NPL Title

Quarterback Harold Day passed for two touchdowns and ran for another to lead the Westmoor High School frosh to a 28-0 win over Half Moon Bay High.

The victory gave the Rams an 8-0 record and the North Peninsula League freshman football championship.

RRDW Wins Open League

The R. R. D. W. team won the Open Division crown in the Daly City Adult Three-Man Hunch Basketball League.

The R. R. D. W. Team, led by Captain Walter Threadgill, went undefeated in five games.

Crestmoor Edged By Belle Air

In the San Bruno Recreation Department flag football action last week, Belle Air playground put it all together to edge Crestmoor 13-6.

Crestmoor's Eddie Mayer opened the game with a 50 yard kick off return only to have the play called back for guarding his flags. With the wet and muddy field conditions, Crestmoor had difficulty with it's offensive drives.

Belle Air's up the middle drives finally led to a 15 yard end sweep by Don Bailey for the winning touchdown. Phil Garcia and Mike Teeley went both ways for the Belle Air Ducks and played outstanding defense to stop the Crestmoor Cowboys.

In another thriller, Monte Verde's touchdown with four seconds remaining edged El Crystal's powerhouses by a score of 7-6. The Monte Verde defense turned in a fine game with a great pass rush by Cussarri and Hullquist; and fine secondary efforts by Miller and Rheinhart. With four seconds left in the game, Randy Reinhart swept left and scattered his way 35 yards for the touchdown.

With the game tied 6-6 and no time on the clock, Rheinhart again went to the left and scored the conversion to give Monte Verde their first win of the season.

In the final game of the afternoon, Rollingwood beat Portola 14-13. The combination of quarterback Dave Hanchey, to Mike Wild for Rollingwood provided the offensive punch needed to beat a very strong Portola team.

Restaurant Action Galore At Nick's And Moonraker

Nick Gust's new Moonraker restaurant at Rockaway Beach is offering one of the finest of dining selections in this scenic spot overlooking the Pacific. With a decor that is authentically nautical, the Moonraker affords all the plus values: romantic atmosphere, mouth-watering cuisine and the organ music of Don Kelly. Dinner will be served from 3 p.m. Thanksgiving Day . . . It will be a lively time at Nick's Restaurant all through Thanksgiving Day, with the dining activities beginning at 9 a.m. for early-risers. A menu of festive dishes will be featured for your "horn-of-plenty" choosing . . . The Papagayo Room, another popular Gust-owned restaurant located on the shores of the Pacific ocean at Rockaway Beach, will not be open Wednesday or Thursday, November 24-25. Service will be resumed the following Friday, with the Mexican fare finding favor with large numbers seeking the authentic.

UNIQUE VOCAL SOUNDS — Martha Mason & The Music People return to the Theater Lounge, Harvey's Resort Hotel, South Lake Tahoe, through December 14. Specializing in four part modern harmonies, the group is acclaimed as one of the finest in the circuit today. Martha, featured vocalist and comedienne, catches all eyes when she's on stage, as her warm, vibrant personality is instantly contagious.

Early 'Post Time'—Scotty Campbell's Thanksgiving

You are in for the surprise of your life, once you swing through the front door at Scotty Campbell's restaurant in Redwood City. Plush red carpeting and dark panelling are warmly enhanced by soft lighting effect, and a glow from a friendly fire in a double fireplace. Antiques and oddments are everywhere to be found. A lengthy, mahogany bar is cozily situated just before entering the main dining room, where Mary Lou Francis greets you at the reservation desk. And I hope you have made early reservations for the Thanksgiving Holiday. Dinner service will be from 4 p.m. . . The London Room at Hillsdale Inn, San Mateo, will be open from 1 p.m. for Thanksgiving dining. Dinner entrees will include ham or turkey, as well as steak and prime rib, plus all the festive trimmings. For those who desire breakfast out on Thanksgiving, the Inn's coffee shop will open from 5 a.m. to 1 p.m. . . The Licata family will pull the shutters at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant on Thanksgiving Day, only to reopen the following day serving an illustrious menu of seafood and fish in every delectable guise, augmented with steaks, chicken and numerous Italian dishes.

Buffet-Style Holiday Feast

Food and Beverage Director Richard George is planning an old-fashioned country-style Thanksgiving at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel in San Mateo. Served buffet-style in the Coach and Horses dining room, from 12 noon to 8:30 p.m., the Holiday feast will include an assortment of salads, entrees (turkey, ham and roast beef) and desserts. (Children under five years dine free.) Thanksgiving dinner will also be available in the Mr. Pickwick Coffee Shoppe . . . Thanksgiving dinner is tabbed at a remarkable $2.95 at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House in San Mateo. This low price pays for salad, fresh Tom Turkey and dessert. Also available is the famous one-price steak dinner. Service will be from 12 noon to 10 p.m. Now appearing in the lively cocktail lounge, through December 1, is the entertaining duo of Johnny Earl and Roger Wells, who come direct from a long-running engagement in Seattle. With Johnny on piano and Roger on guitar, this musical combination has all the plus assets to please audiences of any musical taste. The two gifted musicians and singers entertain nightly, Tuesdays through Thursdays from 8 p.m.; Fridays and Saturdays from 8:30 p.m.

Franciscan Not Open Thanksgiving

The Franciscan restaurant, at Fisherman's Wharf, will not be open Thursday, November 25. Instead of spending their usual busy day operating this thriving dining establishment, the Skaffs, George and his son, Richard, will spend the Thanksgiving holiday relaxing with their family. . . . Live entertainment is always a weekend enticement in the plush lounge of Millbrae's Blue Peacock. Currently providing a variety of dance sounds of Friday and Saturday night, The Romanos. . . . Although the J and G restaurant will be shuttered on Thanksgiving, the bar will be open until 2 p.m. You can bet that owners Joe Selmi and Guido Biachina will be stationed in front of the Oklahoma-Nebraska encounter, which has to be the college game of the year. . . . South San Francisco's New Southern is THE home of old-fashioned Southern-style cooking. Of course, Virginia Baked Ham will be one of several featured entrees here on Thanksgiving Day. This is always one of the busiest days of the year for Nick Sbarra and the Donati brothers and this year's holiday should break all records. Reservations are pouring in.

Looking for a Place to Eat?

WE CARE

Everybody knows about the places where a man can take his family for dinner and keep the cost within his budget. You know, the kind of place where you wait in line for an hour and then rummage through a bunch of food with a bunch of people you've never seen. Ever find yourself hoping no one has to sneeze? And everyone knows about the kind of place where a man and his family are waited on hand and foot. Where your every whim for service and exotic food is catered to. Of course, you might have to sell a block of IBM Stock to pay the Tab. But, still, everyone knows.

BUT, does anyone know that Ross and Warren have instituted a new policy at the MILLS SQUARE RESTAURANT.

We are new to San Mateo. BUT, we believe that the friendly people of San Mateo are in dire need of a nice restaurant where carefully prepared tasty meals are served in a friendly atmosphere, where the food is truly home cooked and where a man can have a meal (including wine of his choice) for under TWO DOLLARS.

Give us a try! Ross will greet you. Carol, Alice, Dee, Norene, Chris and Jean will serve you. AND Warren will cook for you. We are sure you will enjoy us because WE CARE.

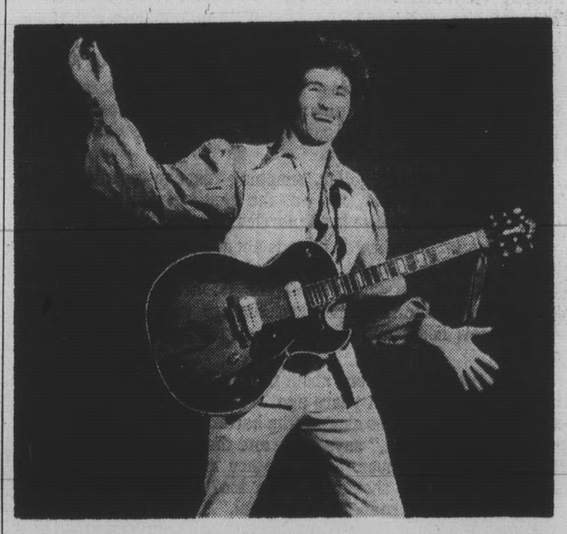
Villa Chartier—Lanai Serving Thanksgiving

The Villa Chartier, which has been a Peninsula "Foodmark" since 1925, has planned an outstanding holiday menu that is sure to please the appetite of every member in your family. During a recent Tuesday luncheon meeting with Manager El Smits, Yours Truly was given a preview of what is to come. Full course dinners will start at $4.75; young ladies and gentlemen will be favored with a special menu ($2.95). The Villa Chartier has long been known as a family restaurant, and this Thanksgiving Day will be no exception. The Chartier's "sister" restaurant, The Lanai, will also be serving Thanksgiving dinner (starting at 4 p.m.), in addition to their regular menu of exotic dishes . . . Quite a Thanksgiving feast is on the program for those dining at Sir George's Smorgasbord, located at 1185 Broadway (at the Woodside Freeway) in Redwood City. A dazzling array of salads, entrees and desserts will be offered by new owner Leon Varbebian. Special price for children. The restaurant doors will swing open at 11 a.m. . . . Vivacious Anne Reed is the solo performer in the Lancer Lounge of Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, South San Francisco. The enchanting songstress-guitarist is featured five nights a week, Tuesdays through Saturdays, from 9 p.m.



HANDSOME ROSS MACKAY, singer and guitarist with a bright, witty patter that turns on audiences, will be entertaining in the lounge at the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto beginning Tuesday. MacKay's musical virtuosity and winning personality should attract happy crowds in the smart cocktail lounge, Tuesdays through Saturdays. The Shirt Tail is now serving lunch also on Saturdays.

Saxon Platter Room Open 12 Noon

Diners won't be disappointed in the holiday fare offered at The Holiday Inn in Belmont. Food and beverage director Don Becker reports that the Saxon Platter dining room will open at 12 noon. A delectable array of menu items will be featured, such as Roast Tom Turkey with celery dressing and giblet gravy; Virginia Baked Ham with raisin sauce, and Roast Leg of Lamb with mint jelly. There is a choice of two vegetables, plus salad and dessert . . . Housewives take note: The easiest way to prepare your Thanksgiving turkey is not to. Instead, let Ed Chalkagian and his crew at Chicken Unlimited do the work. Call 347-1297 prior to November 24 to place your order. Then pick up a completely cooked Norbest turkey for your family's holiday feast . . . The long Thanksgiving weekend is an ideal time to head for the snow country and the recreational areas of Reno and Lake Tahoe. A perfect mode of travel is through Park Avenue Tours, which currently has lower winter rates in effect. Park Avenue has four convenient Bay Area offices, each with an expert staff interested in saving you money. It's amazing how many different bonus refunds and package deals are available. Call Park Avenue Tours for further information.

Barbecue Inne Early-Week Specials

Incredibly low prices are a part of the "Early Week" specials at the Barbecue Inne. "We serve only the highest quality food," said owner-chef Jon Coleman, "and our prices are unheard of in this decade." Monday's Spaghetti Feed is 95 cents, which is also the tab for Wednesday night's Fish Fry. These prices are for "all you can eat" (children dine for 10 cents per year of age on Mondays and Wednesdays). On Tuesday nights you can feast on either barbecued or fried chicken at a tab of two for $1.95 (children under 10 are half price). Jon stresses that these bargains are not self-service — patrons are served at their tables . . . The international complex of restaurants at Hillsdale's Farmers Market will be dark on Thanksgiving Day but it's a return to normal business the following Friday. You can always expect large crowds of shoppers here during the Holiday season, and particularly on Sundays, when each restaurant presents a special $1.15 dinner . . . The completely-remodeled Gold Platter in San Carlos will be open and serving dinner on Thanksgiving Day. Owners Andy and Ivan De Rossi, who will be on hand to greet their guests, urge you to bring the children. The Gold Platter also has exceptional facilities for any type gathering, with plenty of parking behind the restaurant.

Tom Delano's Thanksgiving Special

Executive chef Tom Delano has made a special effort to prepare an extraordinary holiday menu for those dining in the Benjamin Franklin Hotel's Greenwillow dining room on Thanksgiving Day. A traditional turkey dinner will include Delano's famous home made soup, special salad, and dessert. Other Holiday entrees are available at comparable prices. Also a child's plate of turkey or ham. To accommodate those who prefer to dine early in the day, dinner service will begin at 12 noon . . . Le Bistro Rouge, a fantastic, new restaurant on Twenty-fifth Avenue in San Mateo now featuring both luncheon and dinners by popular demand, will be serving Thanksgiving dinner from 3 p.m. The Continental restaurant will feature a complete turkey dinner or your choice of European dishes from the a la carte menu. All up and down the Peninsula people are talking about the wonderful French pastry now being served. To complement your festive meal, ask owner-host Dimitrios to suggest an appropriate vintage from the extensive wine list . . . Woodlake Joe's will be shuttered for Thanksgiving, but Vic Scafani suggests that you make reservations for dinner at the Brentwood Lodge. This popular South San Francisco dining spot will be serving dinner from 3 p.m., with accommodations for small or large family gatherings.

Leaning Tower Will Be Open Thanksgiving

For the first time in many years, Joe and Lou Ercoli will oepn their elegant Leaning Tower for Thanksgiving. Although their South San Francisco restaurant is famous for its fine Italian dishes, a special Holiday menu will be the big feature on this day, from 12 noon. Early reservations are a real must . . . Bob Lavoie, manager of The Black Stag in Belmont, and his crew will take the day off on Thanksgiving, as the restaurant will not be open. A new dinner menu has been designed which should be introduced the first week in December . . . Roast Turkey, with all the trimmings, will head up the menu in the Villa Coffee House from 12 noon to 8 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day. This prominent San Mateo hotel is a natural gathering place for families, out-of-towners and business organizations. Entertaining in the Villa Lounge is the Charlie Blackwell Trio. This swingin' group plays an assortment of music for your listening and dancing pleasure from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays. It's a great spot for relaxing and enjoying deluxe hospitality.

Inn Beats Cardonis Weekends

The dance sounds of the Inn Beats are an every-Thursday, Friday and Saturday night attraction at Cardonis' Half Moon Bay Inn, situated in one of the oldest buildings in the Half Moon Bay area. The lounge has to be one of the most popular gathering spots on the coast for cocktails and musical fun (food is also served in a separate dining room) . . . Although The Putter in Burlingame Plaza has been going through a remodeling program, the club remains open and is doing business every night of the week. Hard Tymes is currently providing the music for dancing . . . Enterprising Ken Gilley is now featuring live entertainment at his new Prince of Wales, located at 106 East Twenty-fifth Avenue. In keeping with his pub's image, Ken has a Scottish piper entertaining his Saturday night patrons. This will be a permanent attraction here every Saturday evening . . . Mick Frizzell, guitarist-singer, opened with a bang Wednesday night at Whiskey Hill, where he will entertain for an indefinite engagement. The opening night bash started off with a gala "welcome home" party for the remarkable performer.

Deejay's Features Name Groups

The management of Deejay's has changed the nightly schedule for the bistro's bands, which happen to be two of the best groups currently performing on the Peninsula. The Sound Barrier entertains Tuesdays through Saturdays; Brotherly Love appears on Sunday and Monday nights. Then the remainder of the week Brotherly Love is on stage at The Band Stand in Redwood City, where they also provide the musical sounds for after-hours shows on Fridays and Saturdays. . . . If you enjoy sing-alongs, you're certain to like Vicki Farrell, who tinkles the ivories and leads the nightly songfests Tuesdays through Saturdays, in the lounge at the Golden Steer, Redwood City. . . . Something new has been added to the luncheon menu at the International Inn restaurant, South San Francisco. It's a "Heart Watcher's Special," a creation of Doug Young, general manager of the restaurant. This special plate is changed daily and is low in cholesterol and saturated fats. . . . Hof Brau lunches are a daily attraction at Yolanda's Terminal Cafe, South San Francisco. Designed by Manager John Hutchinson to please the heartiest of appetites, these lunches include a variety of sandwiches and several hot plates. Plus, you'll find two daily specials.

Smaller Juries Work In San Mateo County

The use of juries of fewer than 12 persons in Superior Court civil cases, an accepted practice in San Francisco and elsewhere, is spreading to San Mateo County.

Two eight-member juries were empaneled in Redwood City recently, the first in county history.

"We have been interested for some time in smaller juries," Presiding Judge Melvin E. Cohn declared, "principally because we believe they would save county taxpayers a lot of money."

He explained that a panel of 30 veniremen is usually called up for the selection of a 12-member jury. In civil cases, the losing side pays the costs of the jury, but the county pays the expenses of the remainder of the panel. Judge Cohn pointed out that reducing the size of juries by one-third would permit correspondingly smaller panels and less expense to the county.

In addition, the presiding judge said, there would be at least a theoretical savings in the shortening of trial time. The two eight-member juries sworn in this week were selected in about an hour, while the normal selection time for the types of cases involved ranges up to three hours.

"Recently we have had offers from a number of plaintiff's firms to go with eight-man juries," Judge Cohn said, "but so far there has not been a great deal of acquiescence on the part of the principal defendant's firms."

Judge Cohn said he knows of no reason why juries of eight would not do as well as 12.

"I have never noted anything magical about the number 12," he commented.

It was pure coincidence that the first two eight-member juries were seated this week. The first, consisting of three women and five men, was sworn in Tuesday by Judge James T. O'Keefe to try a suit for damages. Judge O'Keefe said the possibility of a smaller jury was mentioned during a pre-trial discussion with attorneys, some of whom are from San Francisco. The trial continued today.

A jury of five men and three women was empaneled by Judge Frank B. Blum Wednesday. He said he was unaware of Judge O'Keefe's jury when attorneys in his case, involving personal injuries and property damage, discussed the possibility in chambers just prior to trial. Judge Blum said he suggested a six-member jury but the lawyers insisted on eight. The jury was discharged within hours, however, when the attorneys reached an out-of-court settlement.

Judge Cohn said 12-member juries will continue to be the rule in criminal trials.

S.S.F. Man Injured

A 78-year-old South San Francisco man is in satisfactory condition today after being struck by a car Friday and suffering head injuries, a broken right leg and hip.

Police said Albert Joseph Balley, a resident of the Golden Eagle Hotel, 701 Airport Blvd., was hit by a car driven by Rose Lee Hussey, 29, of 208 Pine Ave., South San Francisco.

S.S.F. Man Released In Shooting

A 21-year-old South San Francisco man, charged with assault with intent to commit murder, was released on his own recognizance last week.

Jorge Flores, of 619 Miller Avenue, arrested Saturday for the rifle shooting of Kenneth Wyrsch, 21, of 505 Baden Avenue, South San Francisco, is scheduled to reappear in court at 10 a.m. on December 16.

Wyrsch remains in serious condition today at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame. He sustained a bullet wound in the chest and a fractured left arm.

Police were told Wyrsch was shot after an altercation at the Miller Avenue residence in which he attempted to get in to see his girl friend but was forceably ejected.

According to police reports Wyrsch vowed to return. He reportedly walked across the street from the house and obtained a .25-caliber automatic pistol.

Police said Wyrsch was walking back across the street pointing the pistol at two unidentified males, who apparently had been in the residence, when he was shot.

The victim told police he was shot by a passing blue vehicle with an unidentified driver. Police originally said the victim was shot from a window of the home, reportedly by Flores.

According to police they were hampered in efforts to obtain a complete report because when investigating officers arrived at the scene they observed a man, identified as Atty. James Wolpman, advising all witnesses not to talk to the police.

At Flores' arraignment Monday another attorney from the same firm, Martin Eichner, told the judge "there must have been a misunderstanding" about the attorney instructing witnesses not to cooperate with the police.

Ticking Is False Alarm

A mysterious ticking coming from a public telephone in the Central Terminal at San Francisco International Airport was reported to Sheriff's Deputy Keith Henneman about 7:30 a.m. Saturday.

Henneman ordered the area, near Gate 11, closed off to public access. United Air Lines security officers, airport police and an FBI agent arrived. A "bomb blanket" was thrown over the phone.

A telephone company technician arrived and examined the phone.

"A malfunction in the relay system" of the telephone, he reported.

Everything back to normal.

TODAY IS THANKSGIVING and contrary to what a lot of folks are trying to make us believe these days, we've got a lot to be thankful for. What, you may well ask, can we be thankful for? I'm glad you asked that question. (Notice how I'm stretching out this stuff so I can fill up this turkey of a column).

I'M THANKFUL for people like recalled San Bruno councilman Richard Griffith who provides us with comedy relief throughout the year. His constant criticism of the city council provides news media with reams of material, something newsmen would otherwise have to get out and dig for.

And his latest "Name in the Envelope" farce was good for a few minutes of chatter at all the "in" cocktail parties.

Griffith's idea of disclosing the name of the next San Bruno city manager long before he was actually selected by the council by putting it in a sealed envelope and opening it after that manager was appointed fizzed (and we're being kind) out. God knows if the name he picked will ever be made public.

But he came back smiling and said if it wasn't for that envelope scaring them off, the councilmen, except his buddy Neil Christal, would have selected the name in the envelope. The council was damned if they did and damned because they didn't.

AND I'M THANKFUL for the nice people I've met through the year, like Mrs. Virgel Davis, of 1166 Brunswick street, Daly City, who asked that a scholarship fund be started for Kenneth Dandrige, the lad who rescued two persons from a burning building that killed two others. She passed on a check for $10 to be deposited in the fund. The Mission Merchants Association were so moved by Mrs. Davis' letter they opened two funds — one for Dandridge and the other for the widow of the deceased and her surviving children. Mission Merchants president Vince Merlo has encouraged others to come forward and make the funds successful — so those folks will have something to be thankful for at this time of the year.

I'M THANKFUL for the San Mateo Country District Attorney for watching where my tax monies go by bringing to the attention of the Grand Jury — and the news media everywhere — the fact that supervisor Bob St. Clair ran up a gigantic private phone bill on a public phone.

Admittedly we are rather baffled that the other supervisors, to varying degrees, allegedly did the same thing but for some reason Sorenson failed to bring this out in the same news media.

But we're thankful for such determined interpretation of our laws.

I'M THANFUL THAT my old buddy Glenn South, of the Jeff Union High School District, is doing "just fine" after major heart surgery at Stanford. No visitors.

THERE ARE FIVE LADIES of one family that are thankful they are altogether today — newly-born Melissa Jeanine Gibbs (Nov. 16 at Kaiser, Redwood City); her mother, Janice (Mrs. Frank Gibbs of San Mateo); her mother Joan Pisani, born in San Francisco in 1933, her mother Alice Snider, born in Kansas in 1909, and her mother, Maggie Ripley, also born in Kansas back in '92. Now THAT'S one for Ripley. Five Generations.

THE CITY OF DALY CITY has got to be thankful for guys like Mayor Bud Lycett who has a (politician's) way with words. Quote from a recent council meeting directed at a woman who was arguing a point with hizzoner: "Youve made up your mind that I've made up my mind when I haven't made up my mind on this."

WE'VE ALL GOTTA be thankful legislators like State Senator Mervyn Dymally (Dem., L.A.) stays in Sacramento and plays politics. Dymally, overlooking Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan right in his own backyard, thinks Congressman Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey would stand a better chance of winning the new congressional seat in District 11 because the GOP may beat him out in the south end of the county.

Dymally notes that McCloskey is "popular among Democrats" in the north. And what do you suppose he thinks Ryan is? Popular among the GOP in the north?

From our own straw poll conducted over a recent weekend when everybody was out of town, we find McCloskey backers are becoming as scarce as turkey teeth.

SIGN OF THE TIMES (for which I'm thankful) — A teacher picket near Sacred Heart carrying a placard reading "Give Us Our Daily Bread."

THERE'S ONE FELLOW in South City not too thankful about the way things turned out in his company's trophy department this year. Talking about SSF Mayor Bill Borba. For years, Mayor Borba has been a big fan and supporter of the Police Athletic League (PAL). In years past, the teams bought their trophies from thankful Bill. This year he struck out. They ordered from another firm. Oh, the misery.

The Mountain

A Lot of Manuevering

By FRANK LaPIERRE
Last of a Series

There has been much maneuvering by cities surrounding San Bruno Mountain over the years regarding who will get what sections when development finally becomes a reality on the 3,600 acre mountain.

Brisbane has always wanted the mountain up to and including the eastward ridegline. This would "protect" development there and also their weather.

South San Francisco city planner Dan Pass has publically announced that only his city is qualified to oversee planning and development of the mountain. But his city council has looked into the possible financial liability of annexing the landmark and slowly, nut surely, began backing off.

Daly City has asked the Local Agency Formation Committee (LAFCO) to NOT put the mountain in its sphere of influence because it would only heap more taxes on the already tax-weary city.

Political Poker?

In other words, by expressing their desire to get out from under the mountain, Crocker Land Company would up the ante.

But studies point up the fact there is really only one city that would fit into Crocker's plans.

That city is the tiny (3,200 population) community of Brisbane.

Once a vociferous critic of any development on the mountain, Brisbane has been wooing developers of "Visitacion Rancho" in recent months.

A recently issued financial report of the Visitacion Rancho development declares "Brisbane could provide the stated services more efficiently, principally because of its location."

Estimates of $15 million, needed to provide certain city support services to any mountain community, have been made. If Brisbane had to come up with the cash it would be hard pressed to do so, whereas South San Francisco and Daly City have the funds.

But there are ways and means for Brisbane to fund such services, as Charles A. McPhee of Wainwright & Ramsey explains in a 44 page report on the subject.

Police and fire services have been provided Crocker Industrial Park by Brisbane since the first building was constructed several years ago. Crocker officials have expressed satisfaction with these services.

Put In Brisbane

The developers have proposed the entire Visitacion Rancho and industrial park be put in the Brisbane Elementary School District.

School sites in and around the Visitacion Rancho development total some 250 acres, including areas suitable for high schools, parochial schools and a college.

Crocker has reserved a green belt some 100 feet wide between the northwest boundries of its property and the north boundry of Brisbane. This green belt will one day provide a modern transportation link between Brisbane-Crocker Industrial Park and the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit station.

What type of transportation system is not known at this time, project director Frank Calton said in a recent interview.

But with traffic what it is, coupled with the possibility of car volume reaching the pollution stage within the "Rancho" the developers want to be ready to meet this eventuality, it was explained.

Longtime Contention

It had long been contended that Daly City's sewage treatment plant could best service the mountain.

And the natural slope of the mountain drains into Daly City, often cuasing havoic with low lying areas.

Since paving of Guadalupe Canyon parkway there has been a noticeable increase in rainwater runoff and flooding in such areas as the Garden Malley section of Daly City.

Colma Creek continues to cause problems also.

Rainwaters will continue to cause problems, especially in the Colma Creek system, until it has been modified, a report by Kirfer-Chapman engineers indicates.

This drainage is being given "careful and continual analysis" Crocker explains.

The subject of sewage disposal (wastewater) is discussed in another report made by Resources Engineering & Management Consulting Engineers of South San Francisco and concluded in September 1971.

The engineering firm surveyed five wastewater districts — Guadalupe Valley Municipal, Bayshore Sanitary, North San Mateo County Sanitation (Daly City), South San Francisco and San Francisc.

Primary Facility

Of these, the engineers feel the Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District treatment plant, which has been designated a Group I project on the municipal wastewater treatment project list for fiscal 1971-72 (adopted by the state Water Resources Control Board) must be considered a primary facility because of its proximity to the development.

It now serves Brisbane and the Crocker Industrial Park.

The Guadalupe Valley facility is in operation, it is already servicing the mountain watershed and it is another factor in determining who gets the mountain.

The Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) is now studying the matter of annexation and is expected to settle the question once and for all later this year.

WILL E. THOMAS

Editor, The Post

TODAY is Thanksgiving. I know because on the way to the turkey dinner I saw ten Christmas tree sales lots being built.

Fellow editor Jack Bik Says he expects to see advertisements any day now for holly-berried dressing, matching Thanksgiving's traditional colors, red and white.

My artist son even put one of the chubbier Pilgrims in red, white and beard this year, holding a turkey drumstick.

THANKSGIVING can mean thankfullness or thank God-fullness, depending somewhat on whether or not you're religious, sports-minded or just after, thank God, a day to sleep-in on. Plus a few variations of those themes.

AT OUR house we thank God and a few other persons, curse and rejoice over the boob tube's grid fare, relish the turkey, its trimmings and spillings, grit our teeth over the noise and welcome the trip to whereever to be with The Family.

Time has not deeply eroded that area where gaps can so easily develop.

Both sides of our family are close (to us, if not to each other . . . and we rotate holiday visits.

THERE ARE even some relatives that we visit only on Armistice Day.

(I remember years ago liking Easter best because of the exciting egg hunts in the rolling hills country. That all changed when I found I got to eat more at Christmas and 2) There were snakes out there in them thar hills!

NOW THAT WE four boys and our sons are growing up we thrive on our traditional Thanksgiving football game, hard-hitting and tiring, but away from the smoke of our elders and youngers inside.

We believe that the family that plays football together mends together. And, of course, we're always thankful that only one really gets hurt. Let's say THEY'RE thankful, since I'd be more thankful if it were one of them once in a while.

Anyway, as the oldest and the very best, I get to do all the quarterbacking in the games, and nobody may rough the passer. Last year, the doc at the hospital said I was too old to be playing football with a dummy-bunch of 13 to 30 year olds. Now they're not supposed to hit me any place which is apt to break, bruise or crumble.

I THINK it's wonderful that over the years our family, unlike so many others we're sad for, has managed to keep the chasms usually hair-line in width. Sometimes the relations bob around worse than apples at an old-fashioned Hallowe'en-fest, but the wounds inside have ways of healing between turkeys and pigskins.

WE'RE THANKFUL it's that way, because there's nothing so pleasant — despite the confusion and the eventual worn-out dispositions, as the whole darn mob getting together . . . often for the only time in a year; sometimes for the umpteenth time.

Yet, we ARE here TOGETHER, and there's only one better feeling:

Going home.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Jacquelyn Francisco can pack for an around the world trip on one hour's notice. For 12 years she's accompanied her husband Clay to remote corners of the universe, writing narrations for his travelogue films and claims "the more you travel, the less you take."

Their most recent exploration was a four-month trip through Israel, chosen because there have been no up-to-date professionally photographed travel accounts since the 1967 six-day war.

"Many Christian shrines in Bethlehem and Nazareth that were in Jordanian hands are now being restored by Israelis. And they're rebuilding them with Arab labor."

Views of the Western (Wailing) Wall in Jerusalem, family life in Tel Aviv, the ancient part of Jaffa, the mount of Beatitudes, and Galilee have been put onto film by Francisco. As have the Bedouin tribes in the Negev, Sodom besides the Dead Sea, life on a kibbutz and the camel market in Beersheva.

All these and more comprise their film "Israel," which Francisco will narrate in person tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. in San Mateo High School auditorium as part of the Explorama series. Reserved seat tickets are available at The Book Store and Macy's.

Travel buffs can envy the modern day Cervantes team. They know two years in advance exactly where they will be, allowing for months of research, four months summer location shooting (they take every third year off), film processing and editing and a lecture tour to 200 cities in the United States and Canada from October to May.

Between continental jaunts, they rest in a newly purchased home in Sutter Creek, Calif., where Jacquelyn and her sister also operate The Golddiggers boutique in the Imperial Hotel, Amador City.

With eight films behind them, they've become idensame series every year, they consult with a national organization and agree between them where each plans to work.

"We have cases of unused film in our attic and garage. Our shooting ratio is 3,000 useable out of 12,000 feet shot. That is conservative when you think of NBC-TV specials shooting 100,000 feet and showing only 1,600 in the final product."

Their interest in travel grew out of Clay's journalistic background both in public relations and with Time, Inc. At 18 he participated in the World War II landings in the Philippines and Okinawa. He has filmed in depth stories on the most diverse people, from the primitive Urubu Indians of the Amazon to the turbaned Uzbeks of Central Asia and made a 4,000-mile motor journey through Soviet Russia.

"There is a tremendous education gap in social studies reading in the 12 to 15-year bracket. Most of the text books are outdated," Jacquelyn explains.
tified with Iron Curtain countries. To avoid duplication between independent filmmakers who are booked on the

That's why travel films for children are both educating and entertaining. Since quitting her job as Civic Light Opera publicist in Los Angeles to join her husband's itinerary, she has written travel-type books for young people in her spare time. "Come Along to Russia" and "Come Along to Brazil" are already published by T.S. Denison of Minneapolis. She has just completed "Come Along to Czechoslovakia."

"Audiences are always eager to see places they've either visited or heard about. The areas least traveled are the least popular. But you can't afford to get too cocky with small-town audiences.

"In our affluent, sophisticated society, you find three people in places like Bad Ax, Michigan, who have already been to Soviet Central Asia."

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

"Those who resist improvements as innovations will soon have to accept innovations that are not improvements."

These words of Lord Melbourne explain the need of societies to accommodate to change. He understood that governments had to be adaptable to new forces and pressures if they were to survive.

Presently, the American experience includes the strains and tensions of sweeping innovation. This is most plainly seen in the reaction of our institutions to the environmental revolution.

The hopes of environmentalists often seem dashed. Organized groups react instantly to any setback, and the illusion is that of broad range defeat with all its frustrations.

True enough, there have been losses, but the most spectacular of these have been met on projects of highly questionable merit.

Thus, the efforts of Alvin Duskin to reduce San Francisco to an Omaha by the Bay were roundly defeated. Duskin's general idea of restricting highrise, especially in residential areas, remains attractive, but the proposal of a universal six floor limit on height had a strong flavor of overreaching.

It now appears that AB 1057 will not succeed in the state Senate. This should not surprise us, as its plans for a Bay Area superagency are unwieldy, undemocratic and systemically defective.

Similarly, shore line control was defeated. Insiders claim its rejection resulted from defects in the proposed bill, not from any real disagreement about its goals.

But the democratic process has produced victories on the local state and national levels.

For example, the Board of Supervisors of Mendocino County recently adopted an ordinance to allow an 8,000 home subdivision in an area known as Round Valley. This meant jobs, growth and economic activity at a time they were sorely needed.

A referendum election was held and the ordinance approving the development was thrown out by an aroused populace. The vote was more than 2 to 1 against what the people considered rampant and unpleasant growth.

This month the voters of Marin County defeated a bond issue which would have provided financing for additional water for the County. Passage would have meant more expansion and more people. It was soundly beaten at the polls.

The merchants and downtown interests in Paso Robles supported the rerouting of a highway. By a 3 to 2 vote city councilmen voted in favor of preserving the scenic beauty of San Luis Obispo County, even though some considered the vote as one "against local business."

In Santa Barbara County a "No More Water" slate succeeded in electing three new members to the governing board of the Goleta Water District.

On the state level in California, Governor Reagan has recently signed into law a bill that requires strict enforcement of local general plans.

And who, ten years ago, would have predicted that the U.S. Congress would have vetoed American development of a bigger and faster airplane? It did so this year. The plane will be remembered as the SST.

So those who advocate that the urgency of environmental protection requires new and strange forms of government should be doubted. True enough, there are some problems that can only be attacked on an area-wide basis, e.g. protection of the Tahoe Basin and of San Francisco Bay. But it seems imperative that such new approaches should be cast in the traditional form of representative institutions. Those who question this conclusion will find it very difficult to explain environmental successes attained through the normal democratic process.

For this is why the American constitutional system has proven so hearty. History has shown again and again that we are able to meet change within the system. Our adaptability reflects favorably upon the observation of Lord Melbourne and gives hope to both those who urgently seek solutions to problems and those who value the American problem solving mechanism.

The Book Shelf

By Samuel Chandler

"In response to your column about Rabbi Morris' book," a reader writes, "I still say the Bible is the dirtiest book ever written. Let's see you try to tell me it isn't."

To read dirt in the Old Testament and nothing more is to miss the power of this book. The Old Testament tells about "a quarrelling, fighting, wandering, stealing little tribe," as Van Loon wrote, who found a God to fight for them, teach them, and more than that to keep them from losing their identity as a people in the swarms of nations that moved around the Near East.

Whenever this little group — the Jews — faced a moral crisis, their God sent them a prophet to remind them of the law. The important thing lies in what the prophet said and how the people reacted. What the sons of Judea were doing to the daughters of other lands, for example, is trivial. But Ezra's reaction and the deep emotions he felt because the transgression occured while he was the prophet is the fundamental thing and the warf and woof of literature.

TEARING HIS HAIR in anguish and rending his clothes, Ezra speaks the emotions of one who feels the wormwood of failure.

"O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift my face to Thee, my God; for our inequities are increased over our heads and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens."

As he prays, Ezra comes to understand that he has not come before God to incriminate his people, but to ask for help so he says "O Lord God of Israel, Thou art righteous: for we remain yet escaped, as if it is this day: behold we are before Thee in our trespasses: for we cannot stand before Thee because of this."

HEARING THESE WORDS God places in Ezra's mind a course of action that leads Judea to remember the law that has given it its greatness.

It is a scene worthy of a Homer or a Shakespeare. To get no further than cataloging the debaucheries that brought forth the scene is to miss the whole point. So it goes throughout the Old Testament. It is a romance between a God and His people. That some men did things that violates our moral codes and their moral codes is not important; that some author describes the immoral action is not important either. The emotions of the people and the reaction of God makes the story.

Pacifica Youth Favor 380

Although young people have been leading the fight to block construction of Route 380 through Crestmoor Canyon to Pacifica the youth of that city are favoring it.

This was revealed at the hearing Wednesday night when Pacifica Mayor Brace McCarthy said that Pacifica students in the previous day's "Youth in Government Day," supported Rte. 380 unanimously.

The freeway route chosen is the most desirable one, Mrs. McCarthy declared, because:

1. It crosses the ridge at its lowest point, the "saddle."
2. It skirts the watershed, in an area where homes are already crowding it.
3. It is the most southerly lateral possible.
4. It is the most fog-free lateral possible, since the fog has always ended as you travel southward.
5. This section of freeway is part of a four-power agreement that has made possible preservation of 23,000 acres of open space.
6. The Crestmoor Canyon is undeveloped at present only because the Division of Highways bought it all.

Rte. 380, she concluded to hoots from the audience, "is as vital to San Bruno as to Pacifica." She meant a four-lane parkway — not the 8-lane freeway proposed, she added.

Two other speakers from Pacifica, however disagreed with her. Clark Natwich of the Committee for a Scenic Pacifica, declared that not all Pacificans favored a freeway. Jon L'Ai of Vallemar, complained that he and his family would have to suffer from dust for four years while they built the freeway past his neighborhood.

Most speakers were divided between experts, and just citizens. Among experts who denounced the freeway through canyon as resulting in greater air and sound pollution were Dr. Henry Mayer, a member of the Pollution Committee of the county medical society, Dr. Gregory P. Header, an eye, nose and throat specialist, Robert Grey of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife agency, and John Lambert of the Modern Transit Soc. Statements were read from a leading environmental agency, Eckbone, Dean & Williams, and from environmental author Harold Gilliam.

Anti-freeway statements were presented from members of the executive committees of five P-TAs west of Junipero Serra, and from the four homeowners groups, Portola Highlands, Pacific Heights, Rollingwood and Crestmoor.

Among speakers were a number of students, the 380-8 committee, Students Protect Our Canyon, and Students Sierra Club. Two former councilmen spoke, Dick Griffith and Ted Lonr, as well as the leaders in the successful fight to recall them, Larry Mobley and Orville Wykoff, who represented the recently formed Freeway Fighters Fund, as well as Sylvia Gregory who is leading a referendum petition fight against the freeway and Ellie Larson, local Sierra Club representative.

Gene May, president of the San Bruno Park School Board, was chairman of the meeting.

Over 300 Citizens Crowd Hearing

More than three hundred persons crowded into San Bruno City Hall last week to hear one piece of testimony after another as to why building a freeway through the Crestmoor Canyon is bad for the environment.

Only Pacifica Mayor Grace McCarthy speaking before a heavily hostile crowd, defended the freeway which would link the airport with Pacifica's Coast Highway.

The joint city council-school board meeting was the final chance for any citizen to get into the Environmental Statement, testimony on the effects of the proposed extension of Rte. 380 from Interstate 280 to the coast. Present at the meeting was a court reporter, and three top Division of Highway engineers, Chuck Privetti, assistant district engineer; Design Engineer Jim Rae and Clyde Ongaro, who was responsible for the much-attacked environmental statement.

Next step will be for the Division of Highways to complete the final environmental impact statement. This will include:

1. All statements made at last night's meeting.
2. All responses from the 100-odd private and public agencies to which the Division sent the preliminary environmental impact statement for comments.
3. Responses to these statements that will be made by the Division of Highways.

The entire tome will then be forwarded to the Federal Highway Administration for approval or disapproval of Sec. of Transportation John Volpe.

Although one speaker after another last night pleaded the state to consider the "alternative of no freeway," there appears to be little likelihood that this would occur. The highway engineers who were present last night have the power only to change the freeway design. Only the State Highway Commission could scrap the proposed freeway. Councilman Tony Governale has previously promised to ask the commission for a new hearing, should he be convinced that the freeway would be environmentally unsound. Mayor Maurice Hamilton, who was not present last night, is opposed to another hearing.

Mayor McNarthy complained that Pacifica's steep and winding roads are handling traffic for which they had never been designed for. The proposed freeway, she stressed, is "not an extension but an integral part of the Portola Freeway" connecting Pacifica to the other major county arterials. The freeway should have been started on Pacifica's side, she complained.

$100,000 Hashish Raid in D.C.

Federal customs agents seized a European-made van containing some 80 pounds of high grade hashish and arrested two men and a woman in Daly City early last week.

The "street value" of the confiscated drug was estimated at more than $100,000.

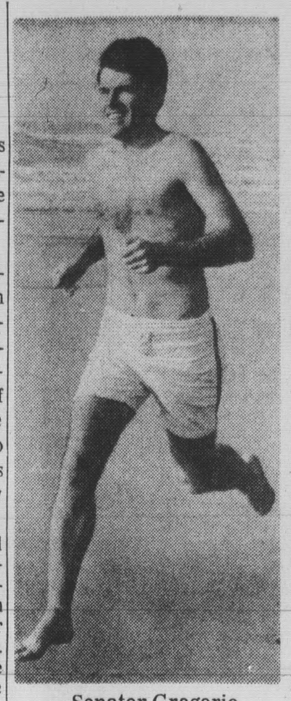
Agents said the raid was part of a "continuing investigation" involving the smuggling of drugs into the country from Europe.

Police did not elaborate on the 5 a.m. raid, which resulted in the arrests of Nick Bergera, 23, an unemployed auto mechanic, his wife, Cheryl, 23, and David L. Mitchell, 19, at the Bergera home, 34 Rice Street, this morning.

Mitchell, of 459 Niantic Street, Daly City, is employed by a local auto repair shop as a mechanic.

The Volkswagen van was imported from Europe within the past two weeks, police said. A search of the vehicle disclosed the hashish.

What events led to the arrest of the Daly City trio, and why the Marin County Sheriff's Office was involved in the raid along with Daly City police, Federal Customs agents and State Narcotics agents was not revealed.



Senator Gregorio

Sr. Citizen Complex Wins DC Approval

A senior citizens complex proposed for the Market-Mission Street area of Daly City was approved by the city council at their regular meeting Monday.

An earlier article indicated the council had approved the complex at their meeting on November 15.

That meeting was a study session which prohibits the council from taking positive action on any matter.

The matter of the senior citizens housing has been dragging on, for one reason or another, since early spring.

However, it was not brought officially before the council until June. Support for the structure, designed for low income seniors who desire to live in "apartment-type" surroundings, was strong in the community.

The council had opposed granting a variance for parking at the complex.

Hagan explained the parking area would be more than sufficient for seniors. He had, in fact, designed a green belt adjacent to the building so it could be used to expand the parking facility if the need arose, Hagan explained.

Freshman Senator: 'Open Closed Doors'

State Senator Arlen Gregorio says he's found that most lawmakers are a lot smarter than folks back home think.

But he said his view from the inside has convinced him that too much public business is conducted behind closed doors.

"A good deal of it is conducted behind closed doors, and I think that's unfair," says Gregorio, a 40-year-old Democrat elected last November from San Mateo County.

"I served eight years as deputy city attorney of San Bruno and it always rankled me that we had to observe the Brown Act—and I think it's a good thing, I'm in favor of it—but the legislature didn't."

The Brown Act requires local governments to conduct open meetings except when litigation or personnel problems are discussed.

Gregorio, who favors discreetly flared slacks, thinks lawmakers are "becoming younger, brighter and more professional.

"Sure, there are some guys who shouldn't be here, but that's true of almost any situation," he said in an interview at the paper-littered desk where he eats lunch "about half the time.

"There are a lot of things that are tough about this job. I've got a wife and three little boys. During the first few months of the session I flew back and forth every day. It only took about an hour and I could work on the plane. But since April or May it just hasn't been possible to get down there during the week."

Before running for the Senate, Gregorio had lobbied in Sacramento occasionally for conservationist causes and—since he's an attorney—for the state Bar. he was a Sacramento rarity—a nondrinking lobbyist.

Kept in shape by jogging, Gregorio whizzes through his daily routine—even reading and signing letters to constituents during dull moments in floor sessions in the Victorian-style Senate chamber. But he still doesn't have enough time.

"I couldn't get done the things I need to get done and read every bill ... Since I can't go through all the bills, I have to rely on sizing up a bill fairly quickly in committee and it doesn't always work."

What about lobbyists?

"I still can't keep the lobbyists straight ... you have to rely on these people to some extent, because I still don't think we have a totally adequate staff."

Each senator can hire up to two assistants and two secretaries. The assistants make up to $18,000 yearly — nearly as much as the lawmaker, who earns $19,299 annually, along with a $35-a-day living allowance and a state-leased car.

Gregorio plans to co-author a bill next year which may upset some members of the Old Guard. He wants to extend the Brown Act to the legislature.

He may have trouble. Assemblyman William Ketchum, a Republican from Paso Robles, introduced such a measure this year and got it through the Assembly. But it was killed on the Senate side.

Hurt in Weekend Accident

A South San Francisco housewife, passenger in her husband's car, is in satisfactory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, after a two-car accident Saturday in South San Francisco.

Mary Lynee Shumway, 33, of 371 Arroyo Drive, sustained a fractured right wrist and facial cuts. Her husband Jerry was treated for a cut eye and released. Driver of the other car, Paula Gail Smith, 18, of Daly City, was not injured.

The accident happened at about 11:55 a.m. Saturday at the intersection of Junipero Serra and King Drive. The intersection has been under fire recently by South San Francisco residents as an accident-prone site. A South San Francisco couple was recently killed in an auto accident there.

According to police, the car driven by Shumway was northbound in the slow lane of Junipero Serra. Police said the small foreign car was hit broadside by a larger car driven by Miss Smith who was going southbound on Junipero Serra and had attempted a left turn onto King Drive.

Blood Bank Policy Stays On Peninsula

During its 29 years of operation, Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank has maintained a strict policy of accepting only volunteer blood donors and will not deviate from this rule, it was pointed out today by Robert Tarver, president of the blood bank.

Tarver's statement was made to clarify the local blood bank's position in light of a crackdown on commercial blood banks who pay donors.

"Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank, as a member of the American Association of Blood Banks, all of which are volunteer banks, is in accord with legislation to control the commercial banks which operate with paid donors,' Tarver said.

Peninsula supplies eight hospitals in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties from Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco to Stanford Hospital in Palo Alto.

"We must recruit volunteer donors for 2,000 pints of blood per month to maintain the demand, which is constantly increasing," pointed out Mrs. Harvey Boysen, acting administrator, "and find that the citizens of the peninsula are most cooperative."

New Service Offered by Two Airlines

The latest battles in the war of the jumbo jets were announced today by United and American Air Lines.

United said it is putting into service the first Boeing 747 to be used on the San Francisco-to Los Angeles flights.

American revealed that its 747s will be featuring a "piano bar" in the lounge area, for more congeniality.

United said a wide-bodied "friend ship" jet will make the SFO-LAX trip Wednesday afternoon, returning that night, and a similar pair of trips Sunday, as the Thanksgiving holiday rush ends. Regular commuter fares will be in effect.

American said it would install piano bars on all "luxury liners" making long distance flights, such as to Chicago and New York.

Lawsuit Seen In Car Row In San Bruno

Objections by San Mateo Avenue merchants over Tanforan Dodge leasing the "back parking lots" of El Camino Theater for car storage reached the lawsuit stage at Monday night's San Bruno City Council meeting — and provided a bit of humor also.

Councilmen voted to ask the city attorney to prepare a suit in order to determine the legal ramifications — but to keep a special negotiating committee going as well, so as to leave the way open for a peaceful settlement.

Richard Gardella, attorney for Tanforan, pointed out that since the firm — then called Sidlow Motors — first leased the lots in 1958, and the present zoning ordinance was adopted in 1961 preserving current uses, the car dealer's use of the lots was a "legal non-conforming use."

Leader of the merchants, Fred Dias, owner of Walter's Cocktails, retorted that he had been using those lots a good deal earlier than Sidlow.

"I used to park back there all the time with my girl," he declared.

Gardella stressed that Tanforan wishes to be a good neighbor and will cooperate when it can. He offered to permit parkers in the adjacent city lots to use the theater lots for passageway, thus making more room for parking. Tanforan Dodge would gladly landscape the lots, he added, and make other compromises as well. Councilman George Corey revealed that El Camino Theater did pay $7,371 to the parking district — a point at dispute.

Dias charged that he and the city officials were trying to sooth the wound without healing it.

Deaths

CLARENCE CURTIS HARVEY

A 64-year-old South San Francisco man died of an apparent heart attack on Monday while driving a car along the 400 block of Railroad Avenue, South San Francisco.

Police said Clarence Curtis Harvey, of 276 Village Way, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco, at 7:50 p.m.

Two female passengers in the car were taken to the hospital for observation. They were Hilda Driffill Paron, 53, of 377 Village Way, and Fern Jones, 68, of 272 Village Way.

Police responded to a call of an injury accident and arrived to see Havrey slumped over the car's steering wheel. The vehicle also had struck two parked vehicles.

Latin Heritage Sponsors Dance

The Jefferson High School's Latin Heritage Club will sponsor a public dance at 8 p.m., November 27, at the Holy Angels Church hall.

Mrs. Julia Moneres said music would be provided by an eight-piece Latin band.

The $1 donation for admission will benefit the annual Christmas posada, Mrs. Monares said.

Dog Helps SSF Capture

Booked were Douglas Lee Lambert, 28, of Redwood City, and Alrik Borge Anderson, 30, of San Mateo.

Poline said the two intruders were spotted by a night guard. Lambert was caught in the marina yard by Officer Gary Hopper while, a short distance away, Gildo held Anderson at bay.

According to police, two boats were burglarized and several medical items from them were found near the suspects.

Better Business

State's New Consumer 'Cooling Off' Law

A new consumer "cooling off" law has been signed into law by Governor Reagan.

In consumer terms, this new law means that a buyer has three days after a home solicitation contract has been signed for any amount over $50 to change his mind.

The buyer has the right to cancel a home solicitation contract or offer until midnight of the third calendar day, excluding Sunday, after the day on which the buyer signs an agreement or offer to purchase.

CANCELLATION takes place when the buyer gives a written notice of cancelation to the seller at the address specified in the agreement. This notice is effective if giv neby mail when properly addressed and postage paid.

If the buyer cancels and has already made a payment to the seller, the seller is entitled to retain five per cent of the cash price. This amount is limited to no more than fifteen dollars.

The seller must return any payment or any note or other evidence of indebtedness, less cancellation fee, and any goods or other property in substantially as good condition as when it was received, or a sum equal to the trade-in allowance and any other evidence of indebtedness.

THE SELLER, after cancellation, is entitled to receive back from the buyer at the buyer's address, any goods delivered provided he has returned any payments made on goods or property received. If the seller does not come to call for his goods at the buyer's address within twenty days after receiving notice of cancellation, the goods may be kept by the buyer.

If any goods sold under a home solicitation contract are attached to real property thus becoming a part of the real property, the buyer cannot cancel if subsequent to signing such a contract he has sold or encumbered the property to a bona fide purchaser who was not a party to such home solicitation. Contracts covering repairs or services necessary for immediate protection of persons or real property do not come under the above provisions.

Paper Roll Causes Fire

A 2,000-pound roll of printing paper fell off a forklift pad on Monday afternoon at the Zimmer Paper Co., 240 Ryan Way, South San Francisco, causing a fire.

Authorites said they had no estimates available of the fire damage to the press, but noted that water damage to paper stock would be costly.

Asst. Fire Chief Al Brauns said that when the blaze began four sprinkler heads popped open spraying water all around.

According to Brauns, a roll of paper was being prepared for the press. It was sitting on a forklift pad, and was supposedly wedged secure.

The large roll, however, somehow rolled free, struck two five-gallon buckets of alcohol-containing paint, causing them to ignite a flame from a spark on a nearby press motor.
